FOREWORD

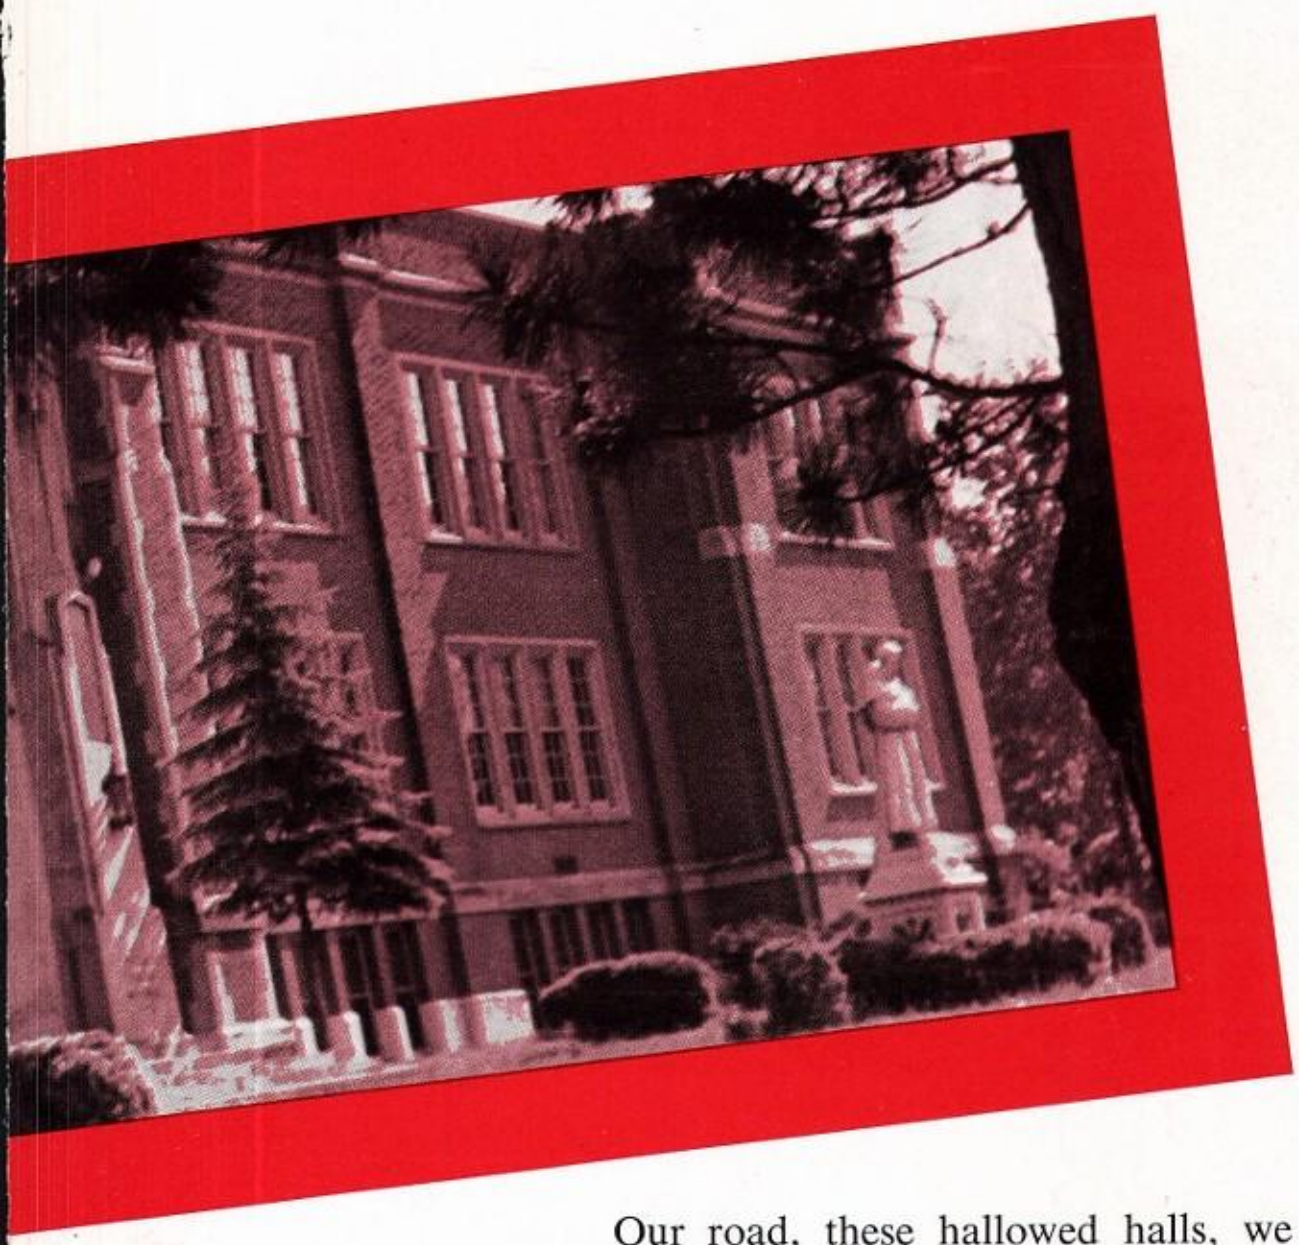
Crudely carved by some anonymous peasant philosopher and barely discernible to the passerby are the words on the tilted marking post at the end of a country road "Here you go alone."
Beyond the marker rises the source for the inscription—a massively stout, unchartered mountain verdantly abundant at the base and mysteriously cloudy and inviting at the white capped summit. The glory and adventure ahead belong solely to the willing, quick and hardy.



Our road, these hallowed halls, we of necessity vacate as younger blood surges to assert its place. But we do not go alone. With us rides the spirit of youth, ever vibrant, hopeful and proud, to see us over the crags of the steep journey ahead.
We like to think we're prepared and hope the promises of success so healthily aspired to and captured in the 1964 CRUSADER may become fruitful realities for the everlasting glory of God, country and St. Francis.

A MOST DEVOTED LEADER . . .

THERE is a story in old Spain of an abbey bell that would ring unassistedly upon the deaths of the monks.
. . . and when the bell knelled not at the Sacrifice for the holy abbot, the learned of the community pondered and sought amid diverse arguments divine causes for the mute mystery. Until the bent, unlettered monk, awork day-long in the field, at vespers lay to rest the trepidations.
"The kind," he spoke, "need neither the hollow metal nor our lamentations to announce their earthly passings. The silence in their everyday charity peals a celestial chime that precedes and gains admittance into the Master's mansion.
"For more than this there is no need."
Requiescat in Pace.

"LET no man of peace and freedom despair. He does not stand alone. If we can all persevere, if we can look beyond our shores and ambitions, then surely there will dawn a day in which the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved."

HIGH PRESSURE AREA. A vacuum fountain produced by Friar Theodore proves to Bill Sullivan and Gary Dillalo that air occupies space.

CAREFUL NOW. Very slowly Ed Sitarz and Bob Marino mix volatile chemicals in a General Science experiment.

GENERAL SCIENCE

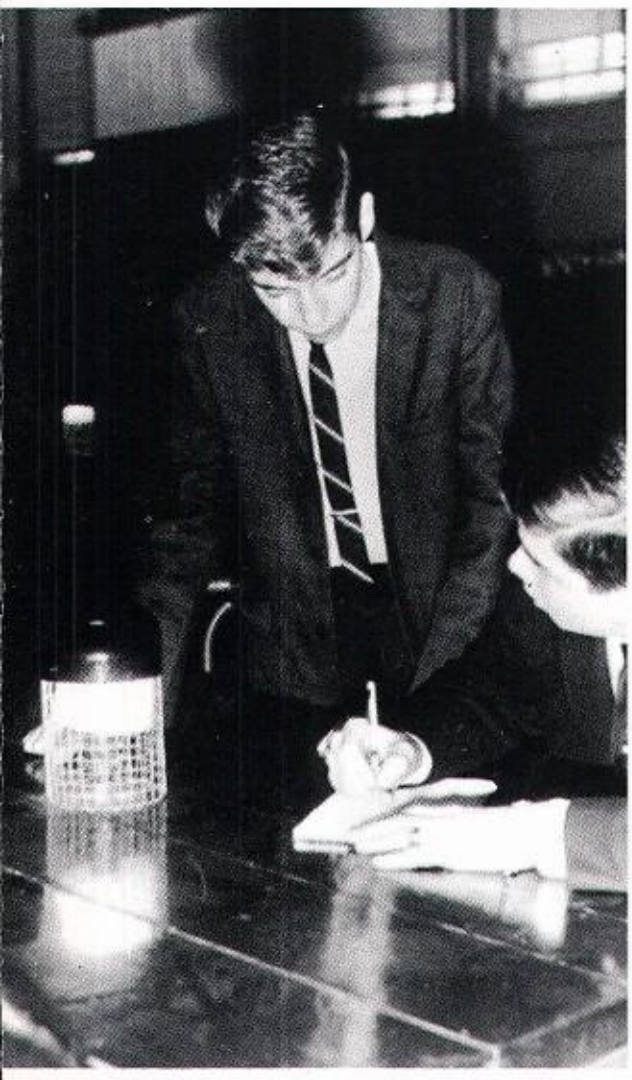
MICROSCOPIC DATA. While Mike Shelley analyzes the biological slides, Mike Fitzgerald and Rich Czenszak compile his findings.

DELICATE OPERATION. An intricate incision by Friar Adriar before Mike Davis and John Compisi rivals that of the best scalpers.



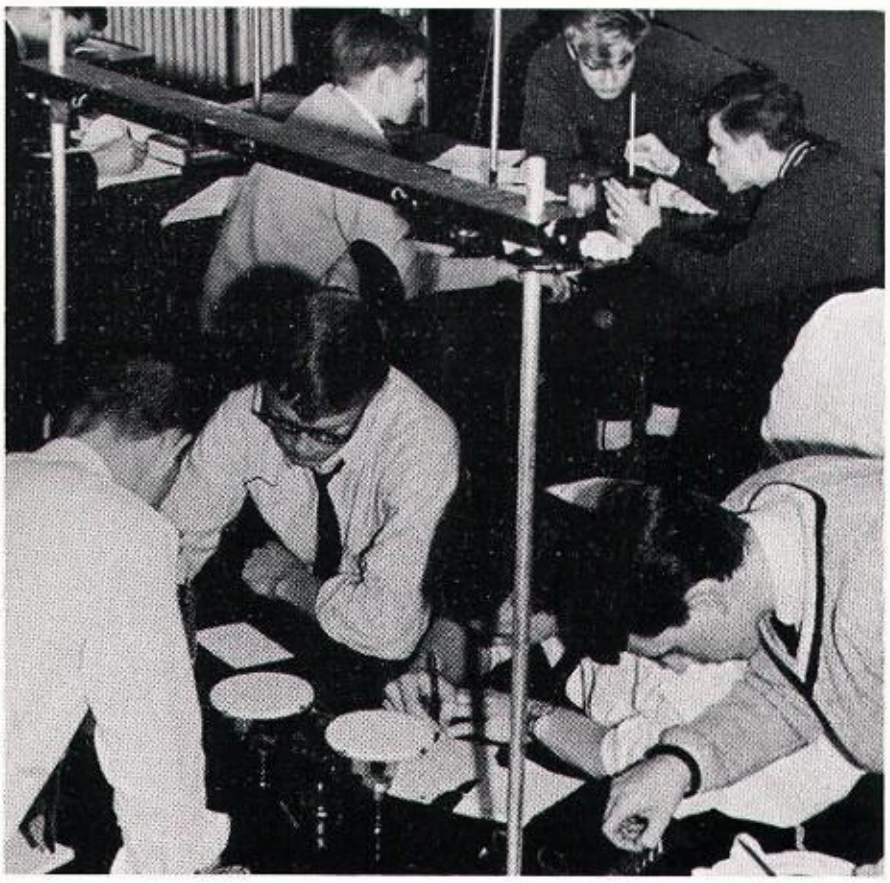
BIOLOGY

Opportunities in Science World Never So Abundant

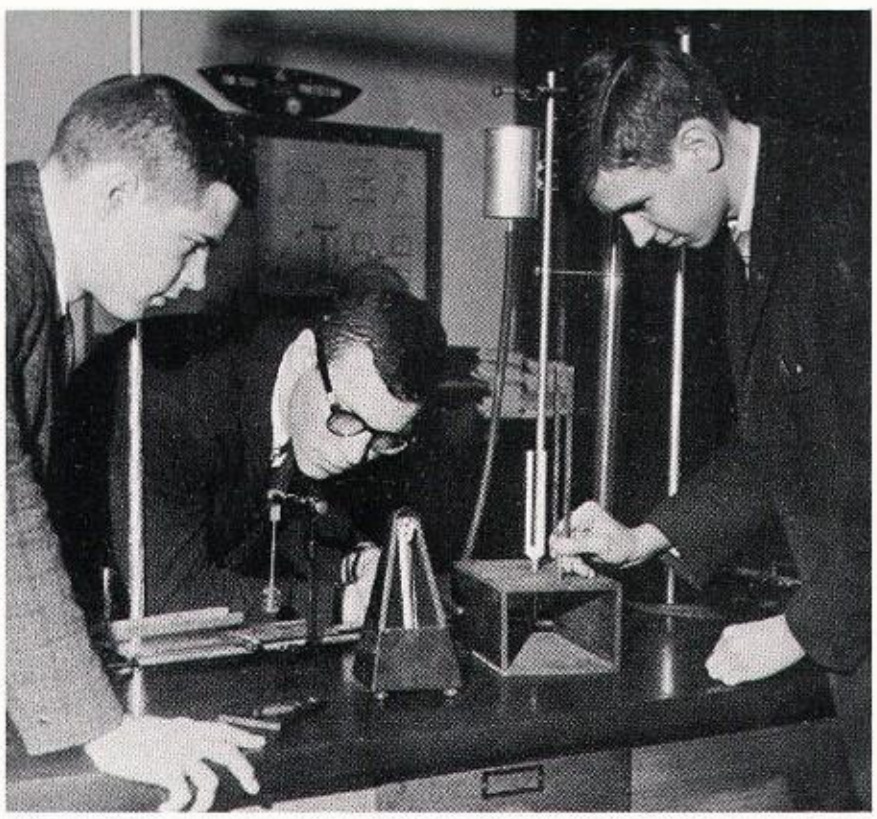
Unlike any counterpart in the long history of mankind has science and its near myriad branches influenced man and his actions. No end to the cycle is in sight, for new discoveries abound weekly.

A science course that prepares the young man for the glowing scientific world must of necessity be classified as vital. St. Francis offers a four year science course that commences with General Science and continues through Biology, Physics and Chemistry, together with plentiful lab sessions.

A serious attempt to assimilate the data can result in nothing but success. Opportunity never knocked so often.



SWEAT SHOP. Experiments in the Physics Lab lasted all day when they failed during the regular periods, especially the famous heat of fusion.



TUNING IN. Jim Zoll, Bob Howe and Ludwik Lubaszka have a variety of instruments to aid in the sound experiments.

PHYSICS

JUNIOR PHYSICISTS. Bending their necks to follow the oscillation of sound waves across the screen are Peter Compisi, Tom Murphy, John Popp and Tom Buczkowski.

FUMING EXPERIMENT. It didn't take long for the lab to be filled with smoke after this technique by Ron Michnik and Tom Berges.

A LITER-FULL. Accurate measurements are especially important in mixing solutions. Tom Mazol and Bob Waeger just keep on pouring into the big tube.

CHEMISTRY

JUST LIKE THE FOURTH. As Father Leonard and Vincent Busch look on, Jim Reynolds ignites the magnesium flare.

MATHEMATICS

CORRIDOR ANGLE. Circles, triangles, parallelograms form the bulk of Math X. Father Maurice shows concern with this question.

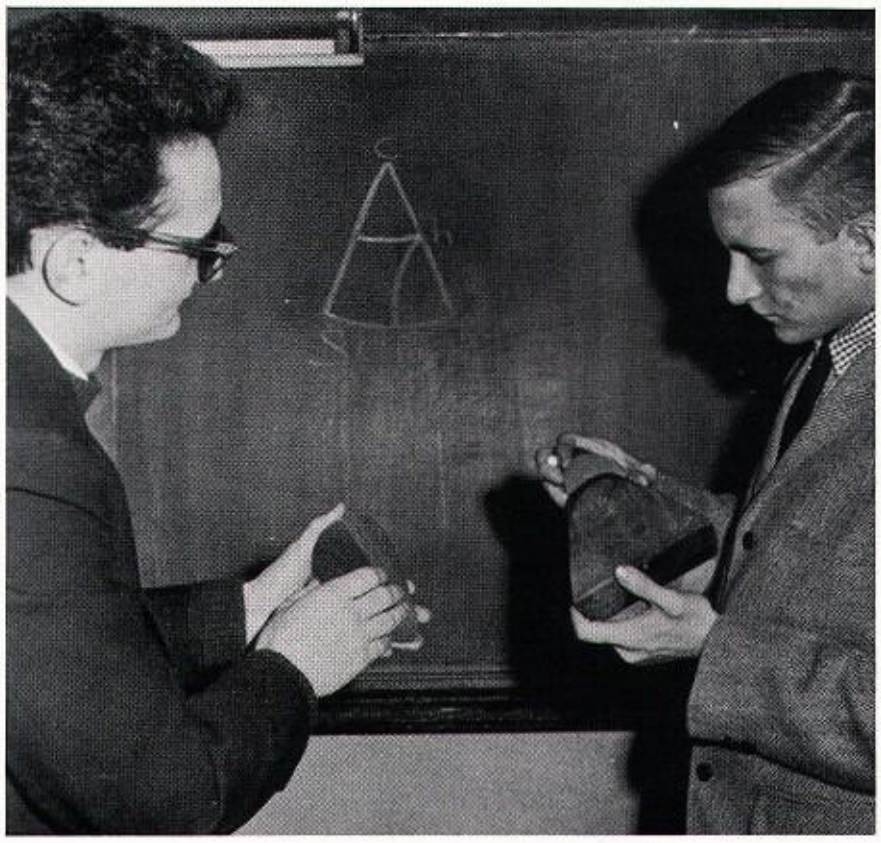
Accelerated Courses Reflect Nation's Technical Needs

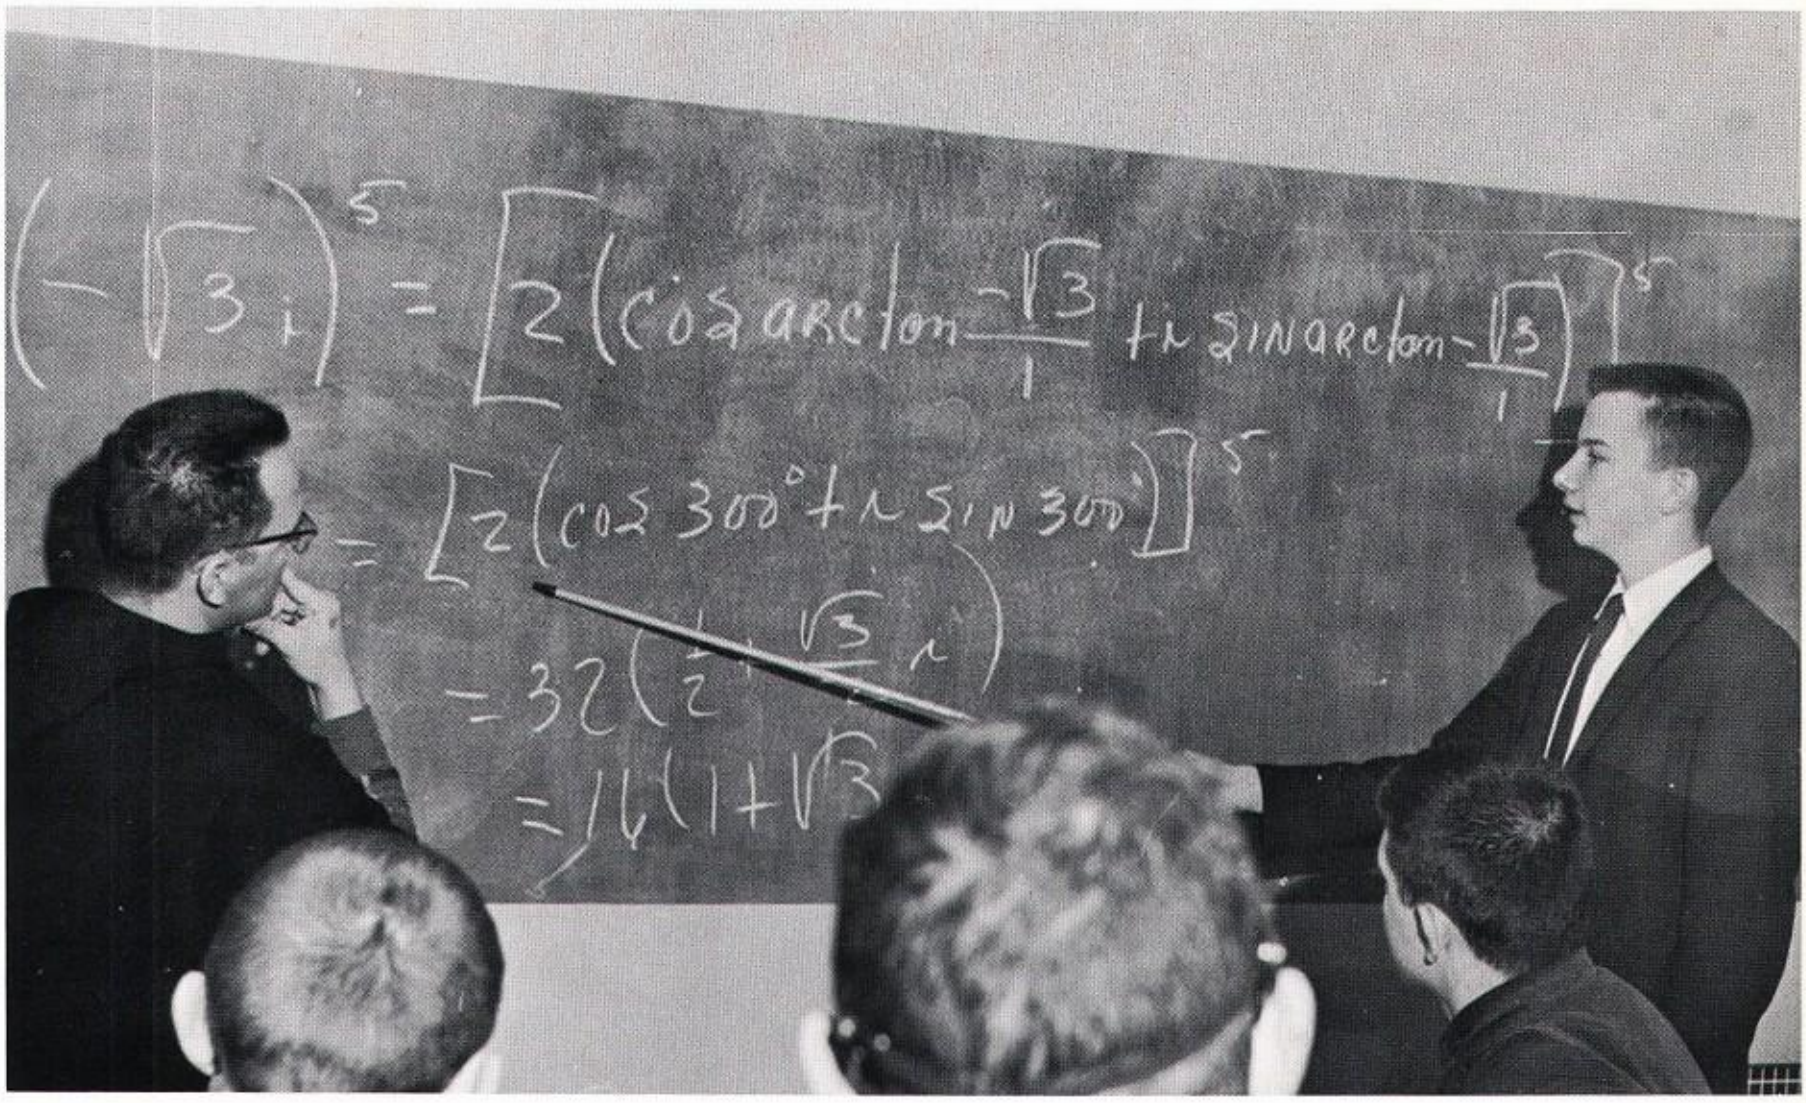
There was a time when the mathematics course in the curriculum found itself relegated to the "also rans" and considered solely as a useful appendage. In a sense the reasoning was justified; the need for engineers and technicians was sparse. Post-war America put an abrupt end to that complacency and in the process revolutionized and revitalized all the sagging science and math programs.

Courses previously styled "college only" now have become routine in the secondary level; programs which ordinarily filled an entire year of study now have been condensed and combined with similar courses—doubling the material in the same time period.

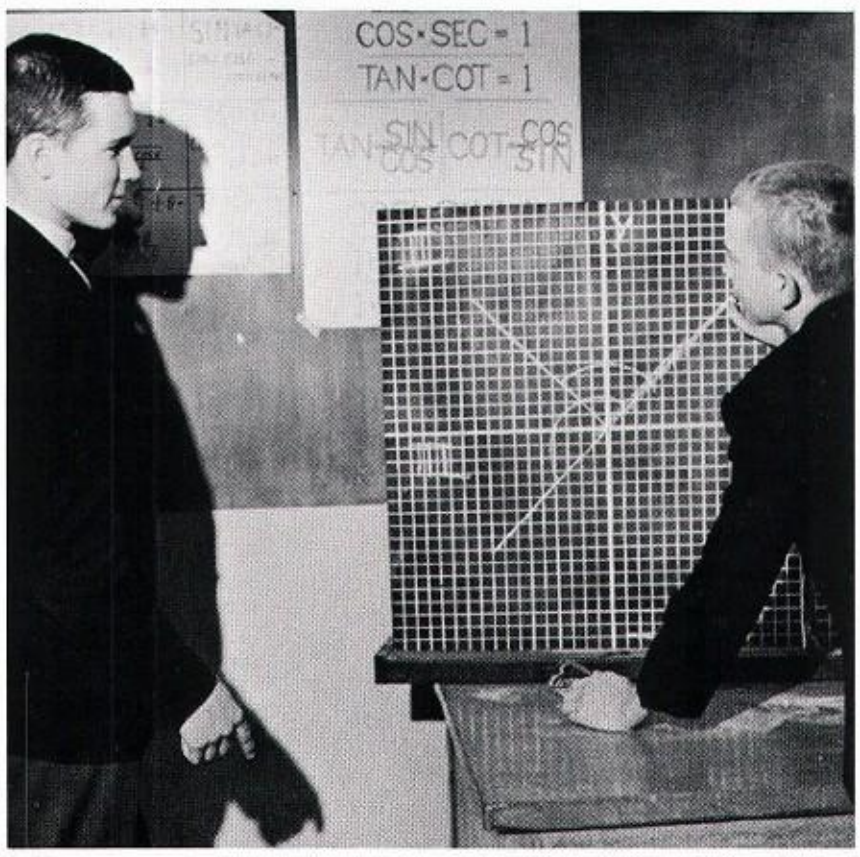
Newer trends in the numbers field have given new birth, color and life to a renaissance of mathematics, unequalled in recorded history.

SOLID STUFF. George Takacs and Robert Dassel analyze the various sections of the conical surface.





PLEASING EXPLANATION. George Milanowski steps through a quick demonstration of polar representation in Junior Math.



COOPERATIVE PLOTTING. Scaling trigonometric functions adds new depth to those seemingly difficult problems. Jim Sweeney and Andy Priesler collaborate in this venture.

HELPING HAND. Mr. Michael Cuviello gives some personal assistance to Ray Ballard after Elementary Algebra class.

ON THE BIG BOARD. Future brokers learn Wall Street techniques in the Economic World class. It was as loud and wild as the real thing.

History Is the Key for Understanding World Problems.

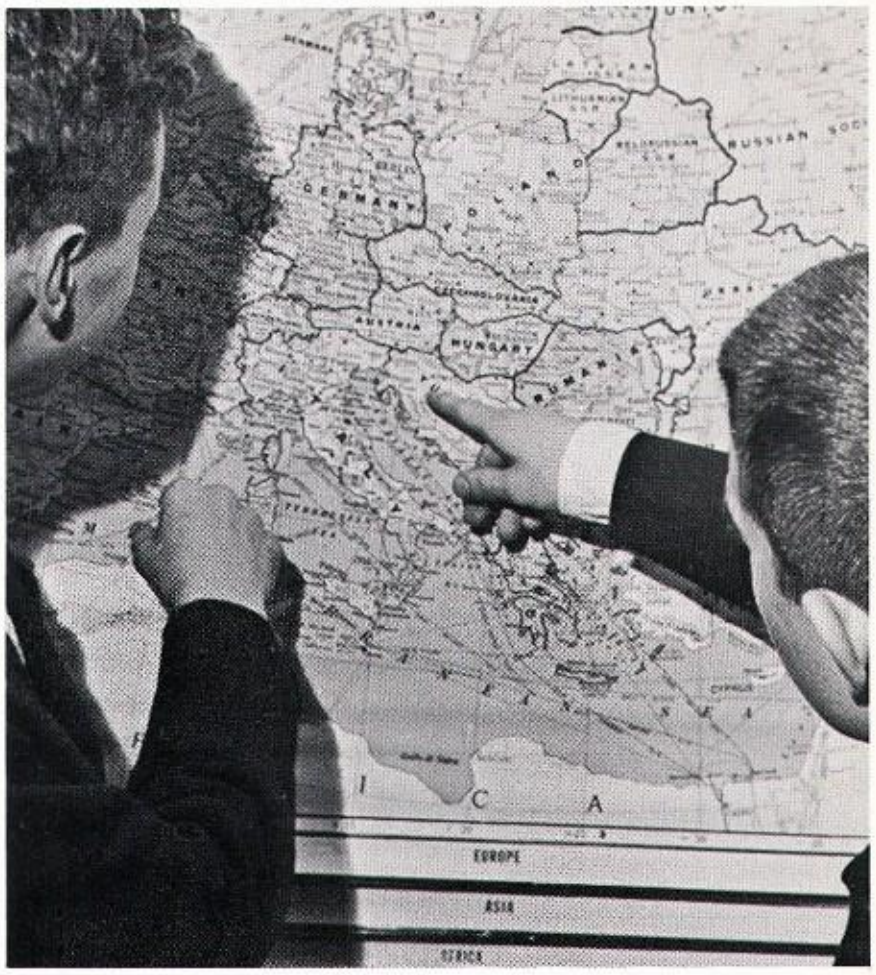
Traditions, be they national or personal, carry with themselves a history, and in today's world where the study of peoples has superseded the study of boundaries, traditions play an essential role.

Answers to the most delicate historical controversies often hide in the customs of the people. Lack of proper understanding and the rush for huge personal gain have nearly eradicated the oldest and most revered world tradition—man everywhere is a member of one family.

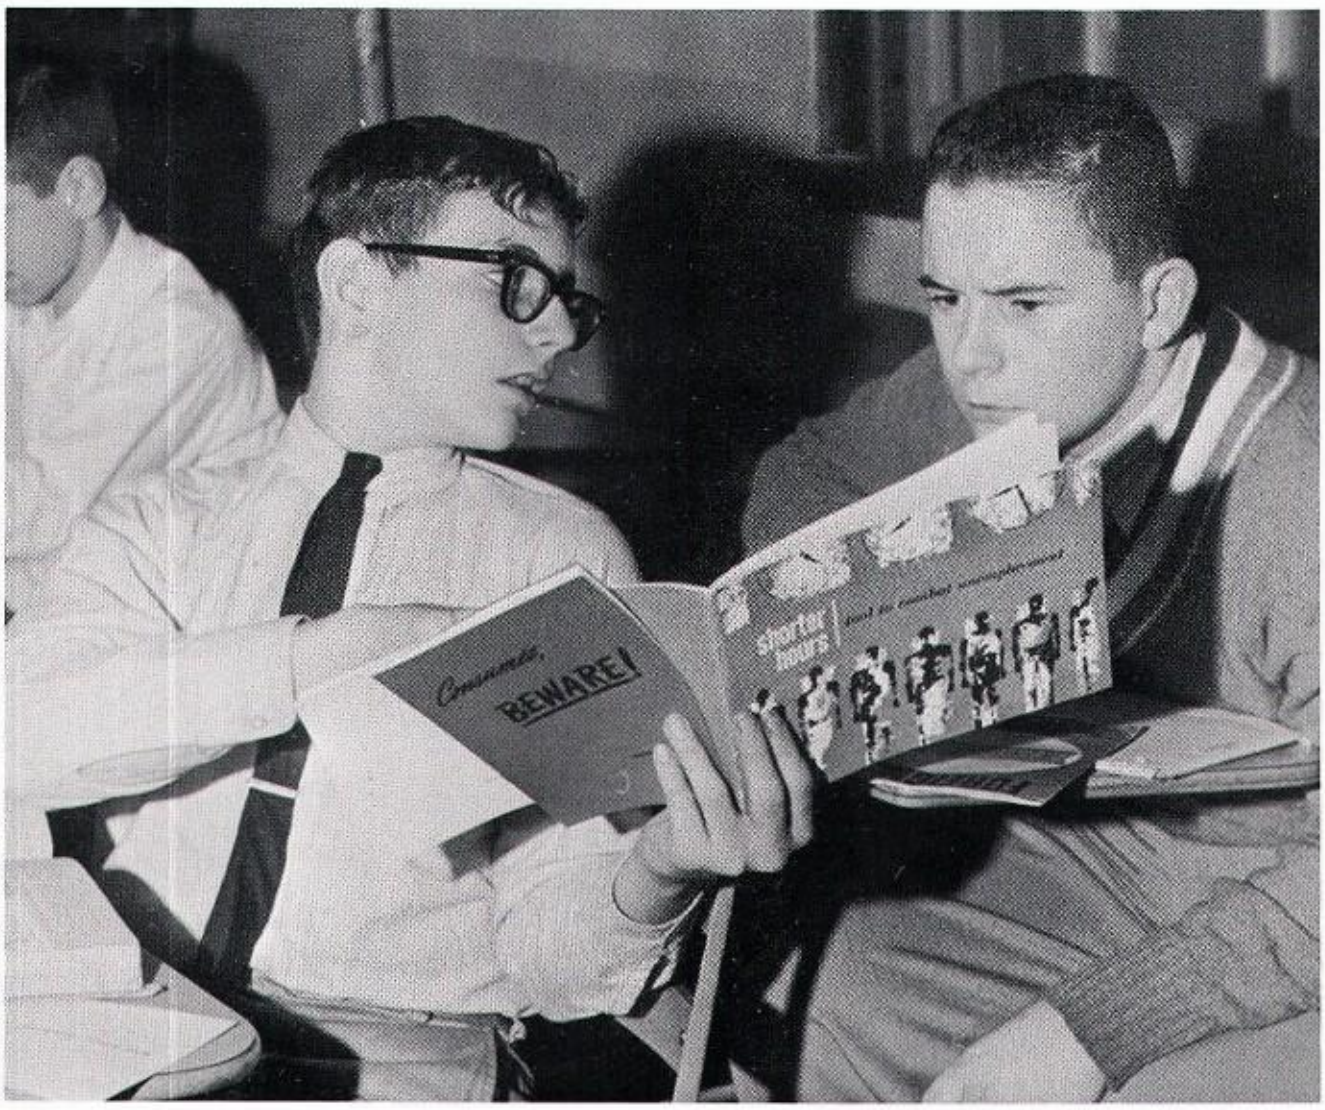
The study of history, World and American, together with Economic World, has rekindled the flame, which, if fanned carefully, will make all men cognizant of their eternal brotherhood.

STRATEGY AT SEA. Father Bonaventure demonstrates to his American History class the movements of the American Fleet in World War II.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING. Visual aids such as the weekly maps and newspapers keep the student abreast of the latest world developments. Peter Salzler jots down a few notes from the main bulletin board.



CHANGING WORLD. East-West rivalries get extra headaches from the neutrals. Reasons for a nation's foreign policy often lies in their geographic location.



UNDERSTANDING LABOR. Unions, employers, employees working together have made America great. Sam Pondolfino and John Gerrity trace and discuss the labor problem in the Economic World class.

HISTORY

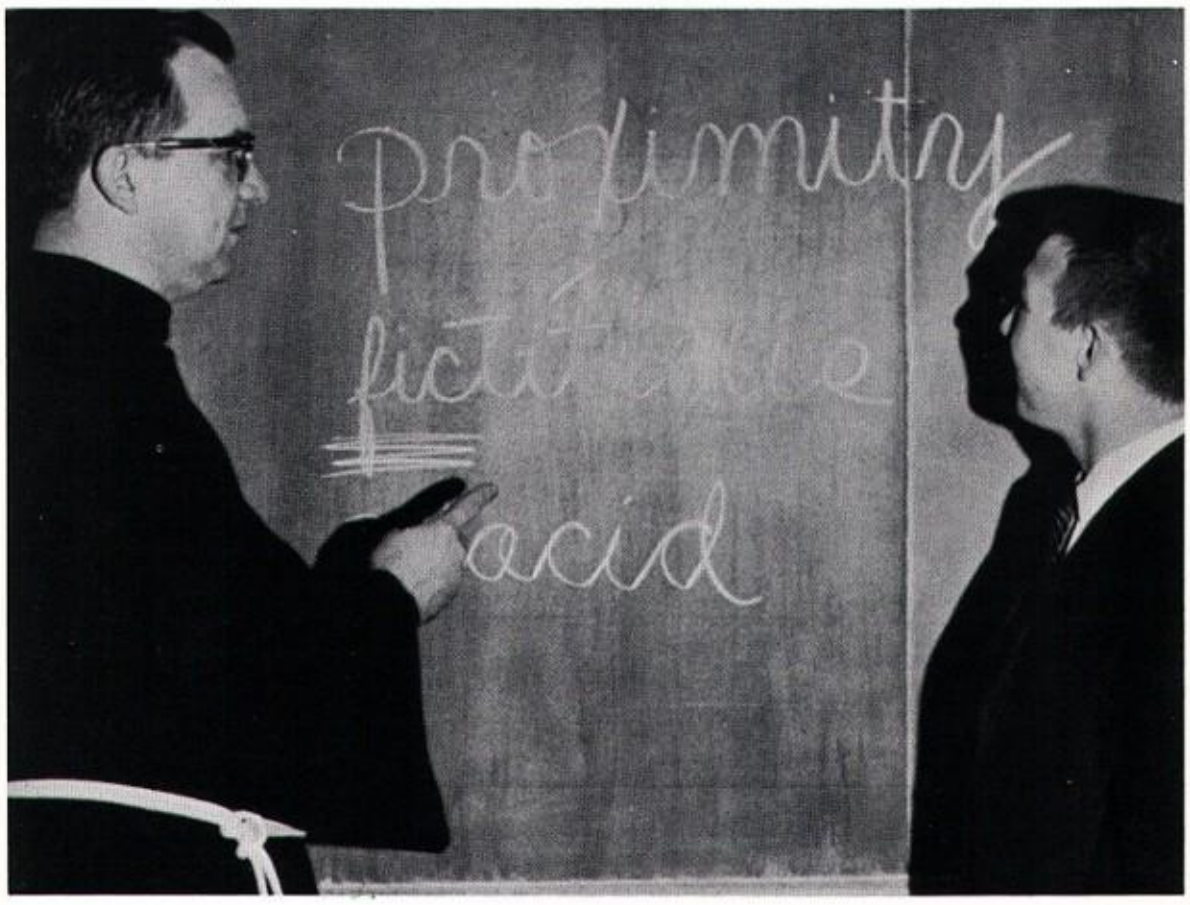
English Is Tool for the Accurate Reporting of History

The history of a nation is marked, recorded and dressed for future generations by the writers of the various periods in the people's growth. We the readers of their works accept and glory in the heroics of our ancestors.

What posterity will think of us will in great measure depend on what we leave to read. Our motives, causes and decisions must then be presented in good solid English.

English courses, viewed in this light, are not considered drab and tasteless. Grammar, composition, vocabulary and literature become tools of precision for our enjoyment and protection and eventually the story of our lives.

LITERARY CRITICS. Evaluating the novel for next month's review, Father Sylvian offers Ed Sitarz a few observations.



WORD STUDY. Derivations, pronunciations, and usage of new words in English III keep the students alert. Father Marion explains a few fine points to Joseph Robak.

ENGLISH

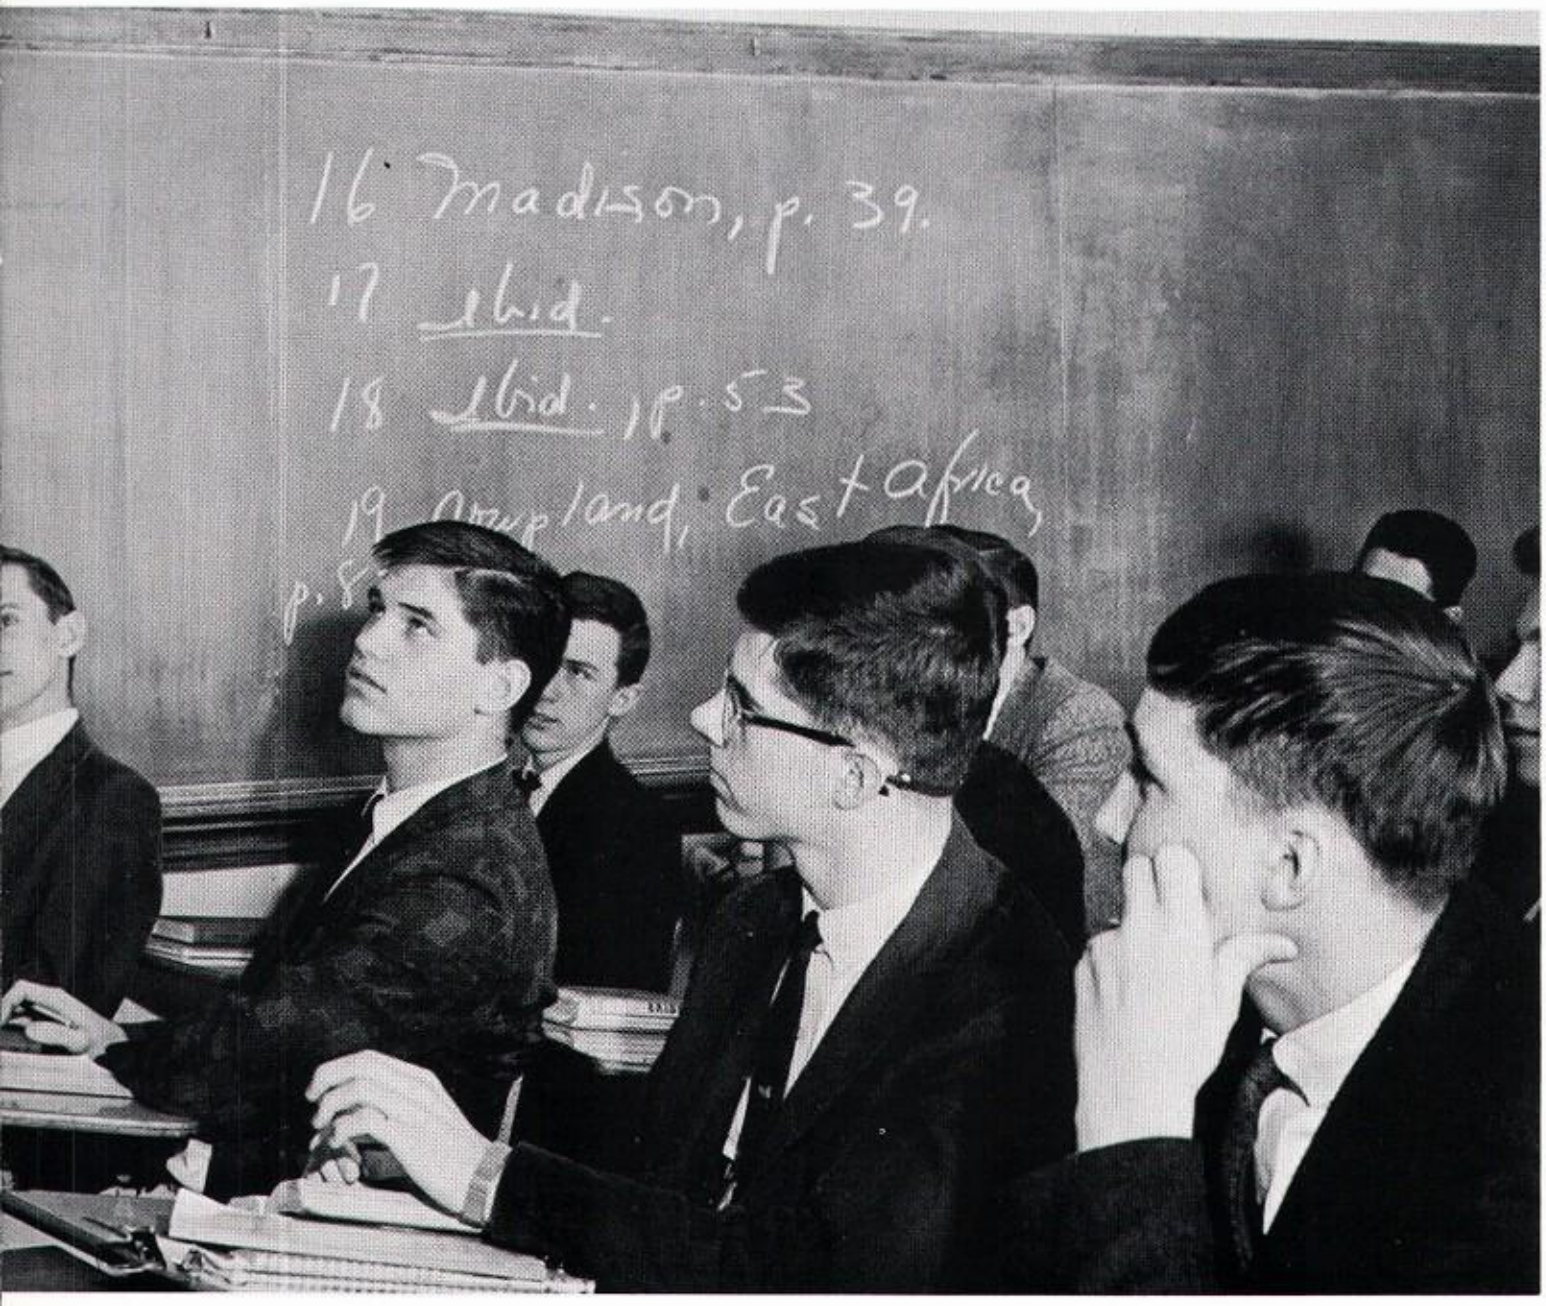
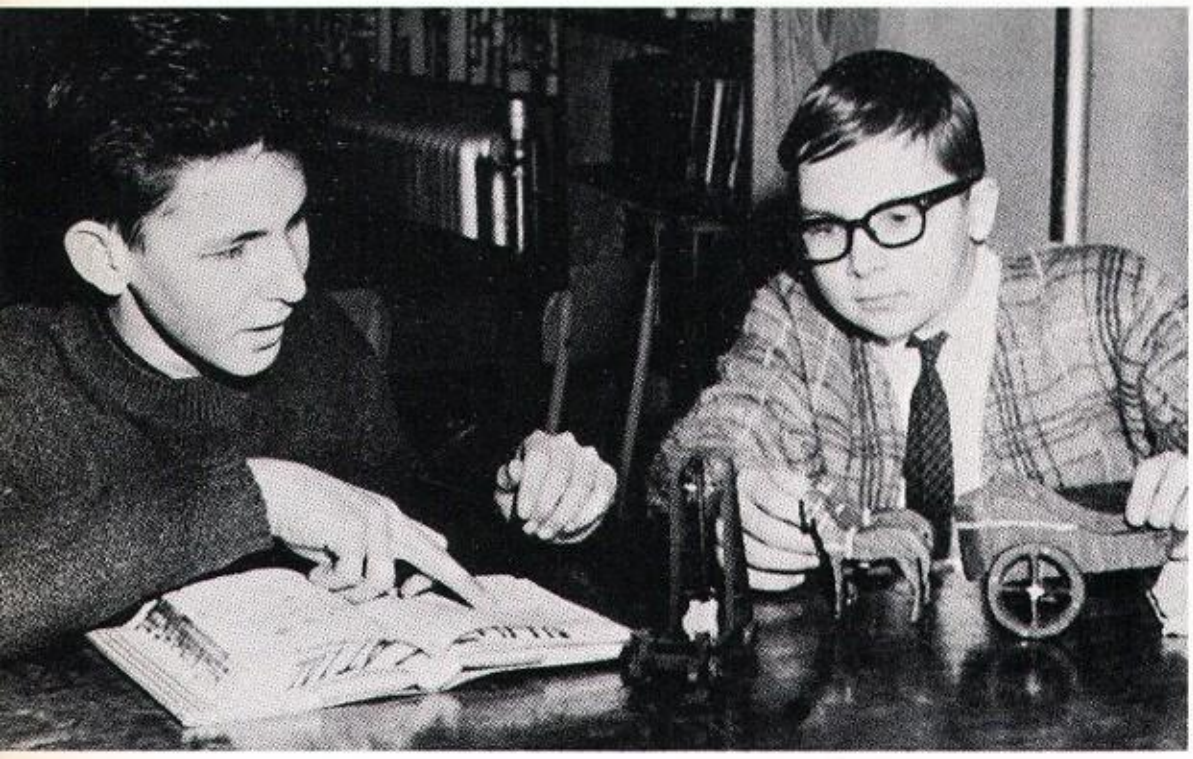
TERM PAPER TIME. Crowded library tables signal the presence of term paper time. Clyde Katan, Bob Stone, Marion Helowicz do some heavy theme research.



ALL EYES ON THE FOOTNOTES. The downfall of many a theme starts with neglect of the footnotes. Father Christopher points out their positions in a sample paper.



"JUST LIKE THE BOOK SAYS." Frank Kuznicki and Dave Serafin examine miniature models of Caesar's war machines.

EXAMS ARE AROUND THE CORNER.
Reviewing the basic declensions and conjugations isn't a bad idea at all. Bob Howe and Peter Rast follow their advice.

Modern and Classical Tongues Follow Example of Sciences

The study of languages, both modern and classical, has kept up with science and mathematics in acceleration and emphasis. Modern communication added strength to this drive, making it almost imperative that every American have a working knowledge of one foreign tongue.

Audio-visual and conversational techniques have in this new program become integral and routine functions.

Classical Latin has shared to a smaller degree in the race for a more fluent generation. Grammar and the dependence of the new on the old will never be outdated—an added argument for the necessity of the language of the Romans.

FAMOUS BOOT. Topographical features of ancient Italia, a product of a class project, draw the attention of Friar Theodore and Greg Collins.

LANGUAGES

NOW WATCH AND LISTEN. John Compisi runs into a bit of French trouble while delivering his paper. Father Leonard assists him actively.

UNE, UNE . . . OOPS! Lacking the confidence of Pat Shelley and Dick Job, Doug Ferraro frowns, frets and fights to further his French vowels.

RELIGION

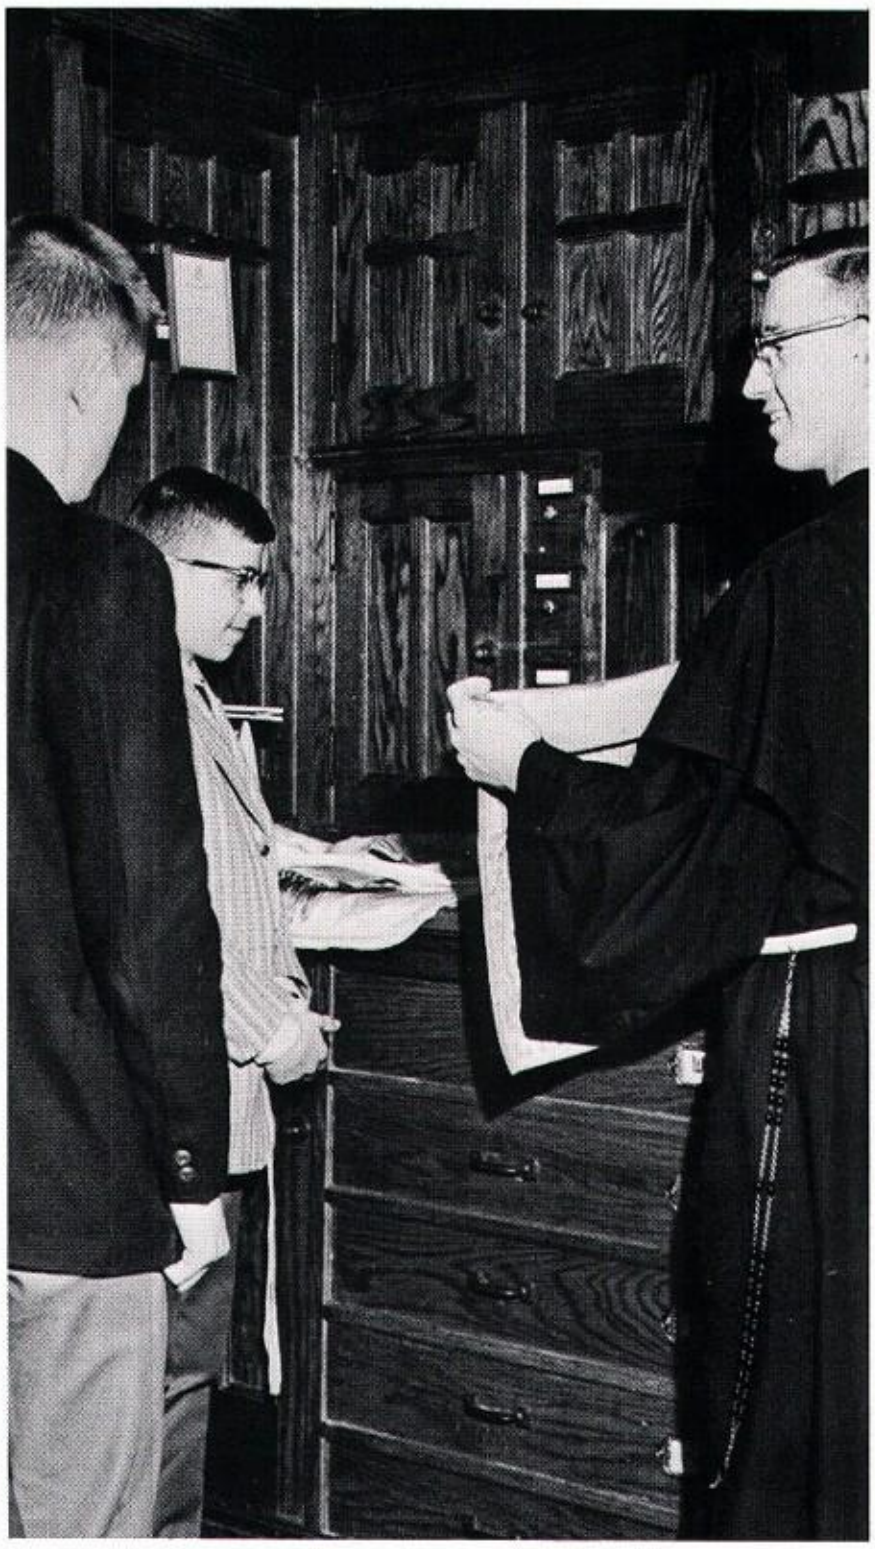
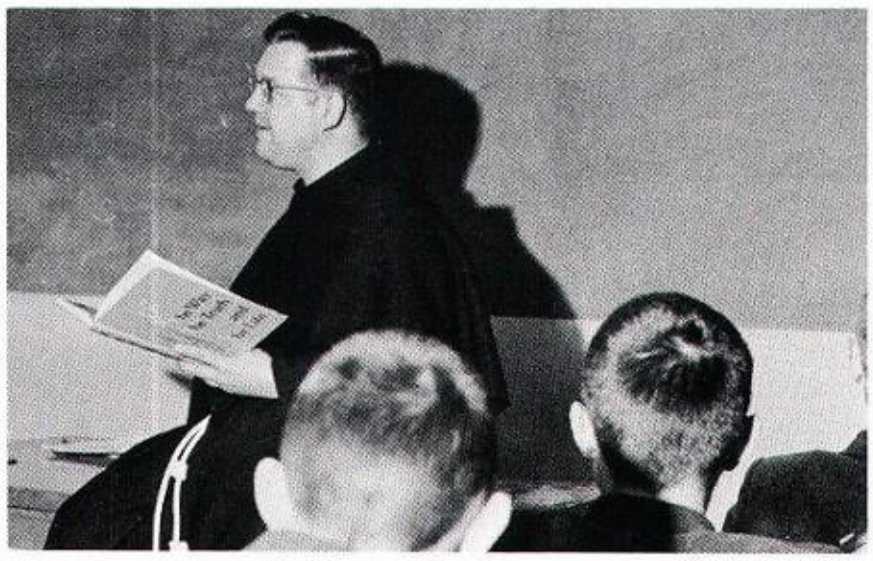
RELIGION IN THE MODERN WORLD. Father Simon's Religion IV class delved into the social and psychological aspects of religion. Henry Pietraszek introduces the new topic on the board.

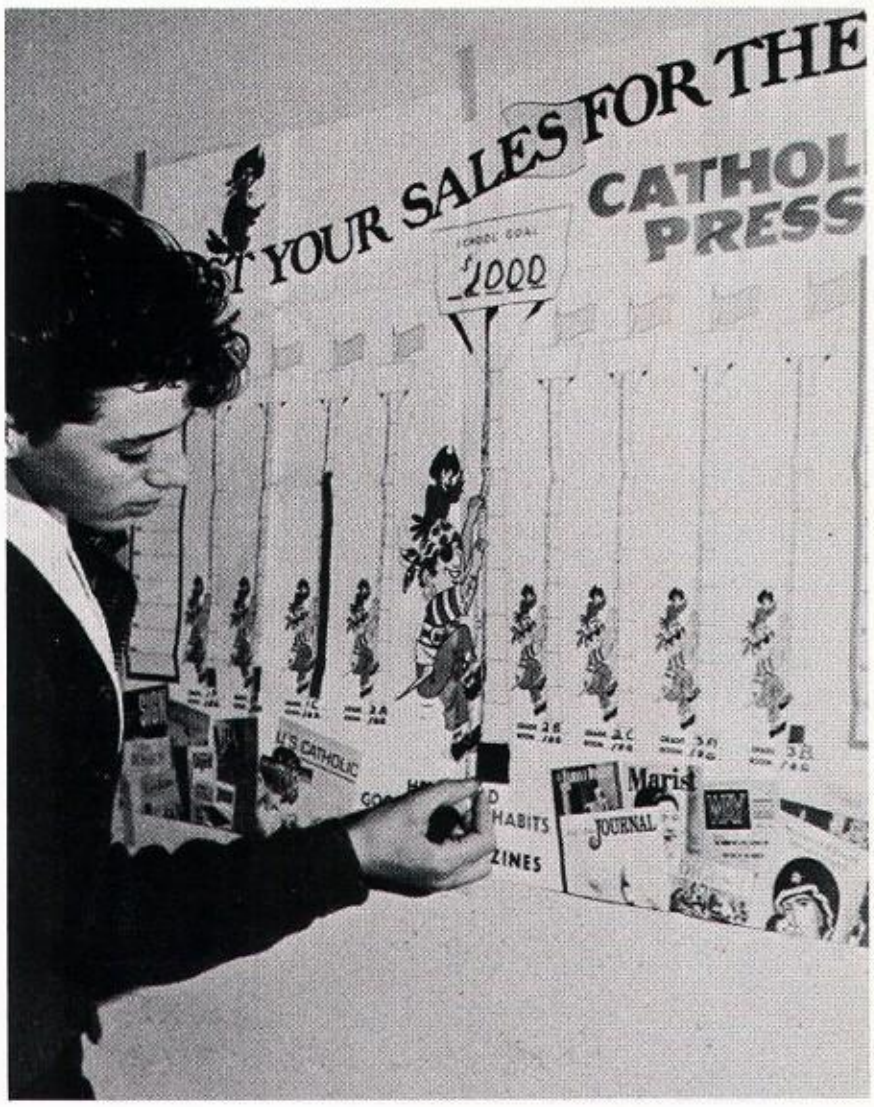
SENIOR FORUM. Reaction ranging from dead seriousness to high hilarity follows an amusing anecdote by Father Felix, the retreat master.



VESTMENT EXPLANATION. Church traditions concerning the sacerdotal vestments, as explained by Friar Hugh, draws the attention of Ed Vazquez and Ed Ordynowicz.



RELIGION LECTURE. Father Sylvian handled the Life of Christ in his Freshman Religion.



CATHOLIC ACTION. Putting a Catholic magazine in every Catholic home was the purpose of the drive. Randy Hart marks progress on the class chart.

Morals and Doctrine Supply Proper Motivation in Life's Drama

By its very nature the most important of all subjects, Religion is heavily emphasized in the St. Francis curriculum.

Students receive a four year course grounding them firmly in the life and teachings of Christ, the history of the Church He founded and the doctrines it propagates.

In a world which seems to have no realization of why it exists or what it should be seeking, the St. Francis graduate emerges as a God-fearing man with a realistic understanding of his purpose and destiny on earth.

"AND we must also work to create an America of equal opportunity and economic justice for all men of all ages, races and creeds—an America which will be as the founding fathers intended us to be, a living example of freedom to the world."

September Rush Crowds Summer Memories Into Oblivion

Contrary to popular belief, the opening day of the school year is not the most distressing thing in a boy's life. What could be more hearty than a time replete with reunions—friends greeting class-mates, students reintroducing themselves to their teachers. Even scrutinizing the long lines of bewildered and dolorous freshmen turns out to be a sport.

Add to this the Solemn High Mass, the annual raising of Old Glory, checking the schedules and text books and even the most dejected will perk up.

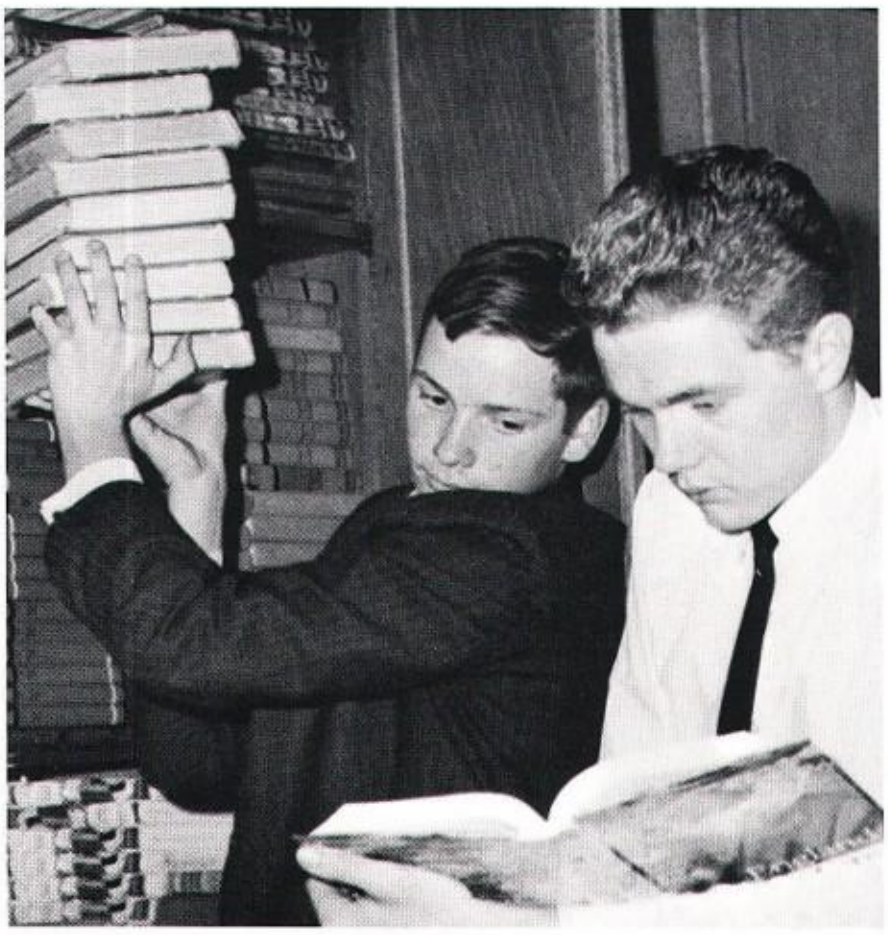
Warm Indian summer afternoons forced the mind to wander back to the sandy beaches, but, we must admit, it wasn't a bit as hard as we pictured it to others.

SCHOLASTIC HOMILY. Father Provincial opened the year with the traditional Solemn High Mass.

SENIOR ACOLYTES. Reverently assisting at the sacred ceremonies were Jim Reynolds, Mike Salach, John Przybylowicz, and Allen Medford.

CLASS HONORS. In recognition for last year's class standing, Senior Dave Frucella receives a medal from Father Principal.

O'ER THE LAND OF THE FREE. Tradition calls for everybody to witness the raising of the flag on opening day.



STOCK BOYS. The mad rush for texts kept Martin Kobos and Tom Wrzosek lifting and carrying hundreds of books.

WELCOME HOME. With the vacation finally over, Jeff Filip, Jerry McEneaney and Mike Salach greet each other before checking in with the Prefect.

AUTUMN

JUNIOR INDUSTRY. With his adviser's approval, Andy Priesler puts the finishing touches on JA product from the JA-Lectro Company.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

Junior Achievement Adds Color to Program

Autumn introduced Junior Achievement to St. Francis. Known popularly as the JA and backed by advisers from business and industry, it functions exactly like big business with student manufactured products, company stock, books and records.

Cross-country meets and battles on the gridiron provided the thrills synonymous with fall. A welcome visitor between the action was Father Lucian Young, O.F.M. Conv., class of '48, who described in an assembly the labors of the Franciscans among the faithful on the Ryukyu Islands, south of Japan.

BALANCING THE BOOKS. President Clyde Katan of the Repco-Teens Company does the monthly auditing of the firm's books.

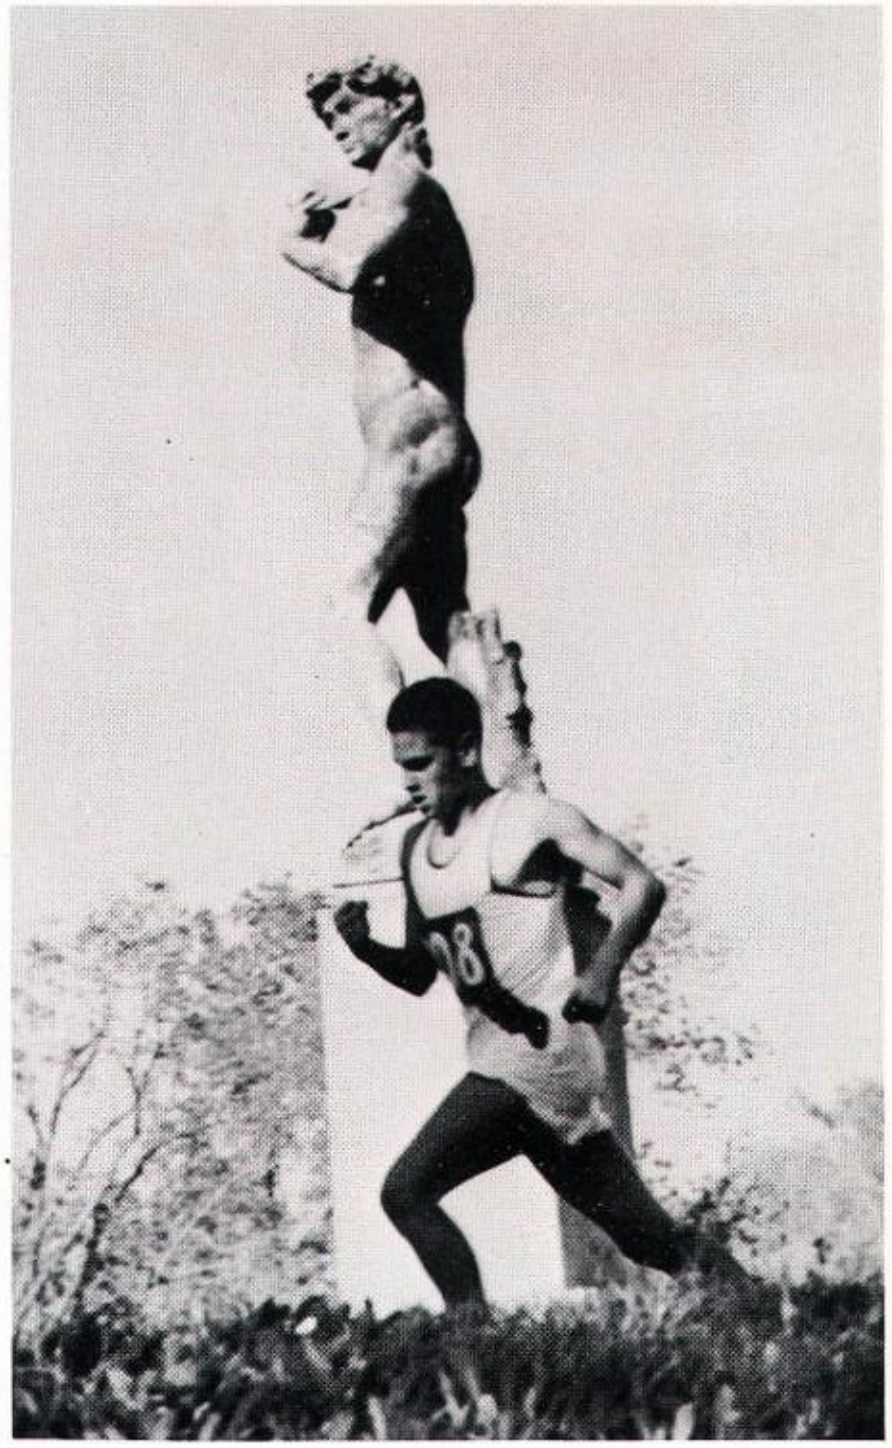
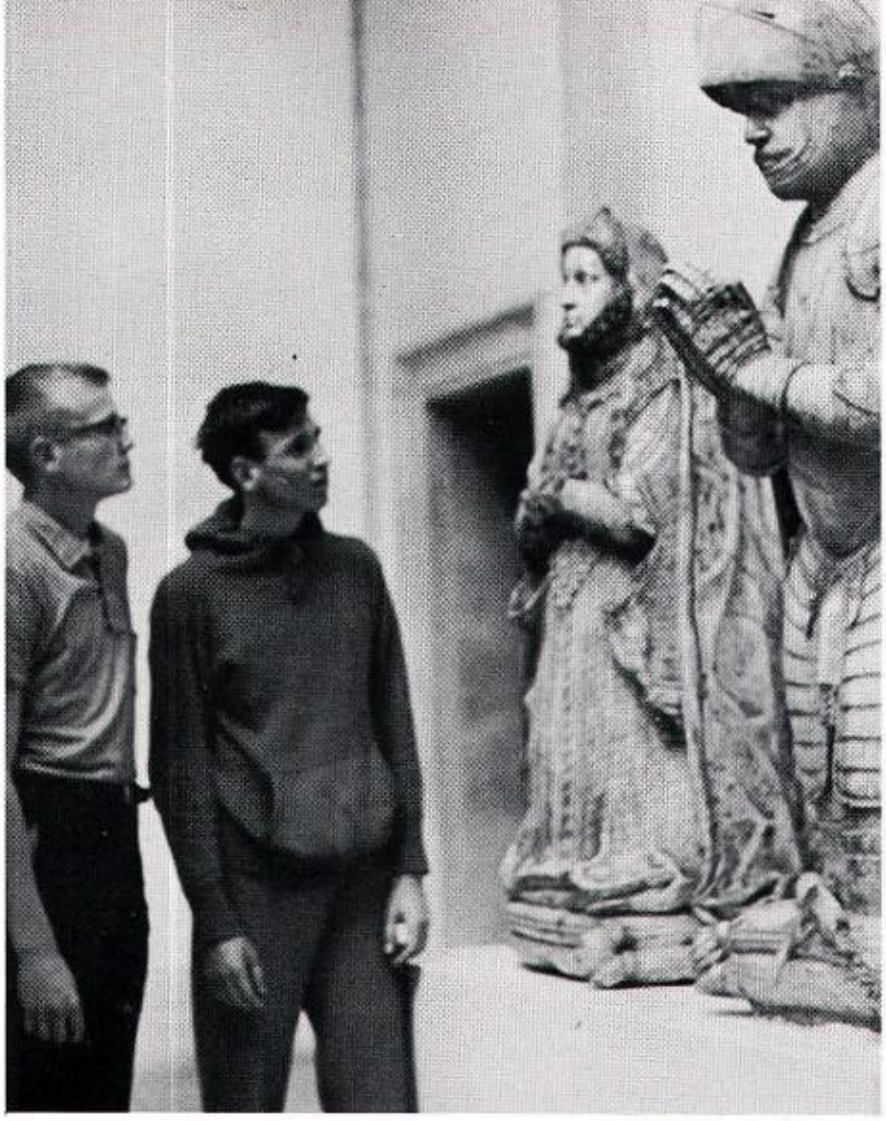
MISSIONARY ALUMNUS. Locating his mission in the Far Pacific, Father Lucian Young diagrams his routes of travel between posts.



IN THE IMAGE OF STONE. Harmonizing his stride with the statue of David in Delaware Park, Mike Ingardia races through the harrier course.



IN THE DAYS OF 'YORE. Peter Karwacki and Ludwik Lubaszka visit the art museum between practice runs.

TIP TOE IN THE TIES. Assistant Coach Bob Torgalski supervises the skipping through the railroad ties.

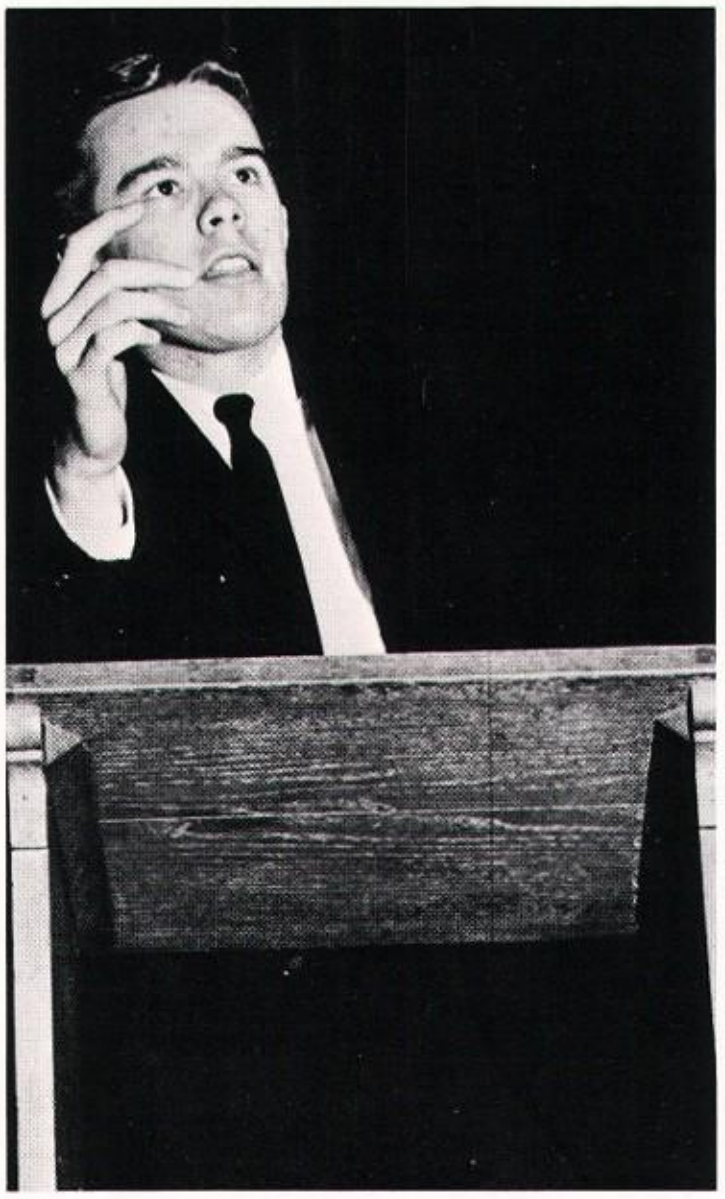
Serious Work and Frolics Set Pace for Late Fall

Activities took a decided indoor turn toward the end of October. There was the yearbook schedule to meet, and the photo club became veritable hermits in their darkroom. Rich Wesolowski finished second, representing St. Francis in the oratorical contest.

And then there came Halloween with the masquerading Frosh displaying hidden talents and some that should have stayed hidden.

Thanksgiving made us think of Mom and home, but the bounteous table quickly dispelled all traces of the seasonal homesickness.



ACTIVE ORATORY. Rich Wesolowski represented St. Francis in the American Legion contest.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

CAMERA CREW. Sam Pondolfino, Tom Wrzosek, Bob Dassel, Larry Klementowski.

DARKROOM TECHNIQUES. Chief Tom Wrzosek handled the finer details for his crew.

HALLOWEEN CHORISTERS. Colorfully decked, Doug Ferraro, Bill Lowe, Ron Janocha and Bob Marino bellow forth an equally colorful tune.

HOW ARE YOU FIXED FOR BLADES? Live commercials highlighted the party. Gary DiLallo, Mike Gentile, and Rory Egan shave everything but their whiskers.

BLESS US, O LORD. Where we put it we don't know, but we thanked the Lord both for the bounty and the appetites.

Death of President Kennedy Saddens Entire School

No event could have grieved us so completely as the untimely death of President Kennedy. Somber and silent, we witnessed and rewitnessed the procession of tragedy and sorrow, to be marked indelibly on our minds.

On campus the Choir performed admirably during Father Arthur's Jubilee Mass, and the Legion of Decency and Stamp Club held their regular monthly meetings.

A dry, warm spell of Indian summer weather played with us teasingly, until it changed into an unsuspected snow storm—so typical of Western New York weather.

"Banner," Beatles Make Spicy Fare

Unknown to most of us, and even the reliable student newspaper, but across in merry England four funny men with long hair were quite innocently singing and dancing under the name of "The Beatles." In a short month we were hit and dazed by Ringo & Co., and beatlemania became as common as measles.

The "Banner" came out with its first issue, reporting only the worthy news of the first quarter, excluding the noisy quartet. Intramural bowling was going at a feverish clip; the snow, sleet and ice, were not as heavy as expected. The local merchants kept drumming our ears with reminders that yuletide was less than a month away.

Bowling Capers

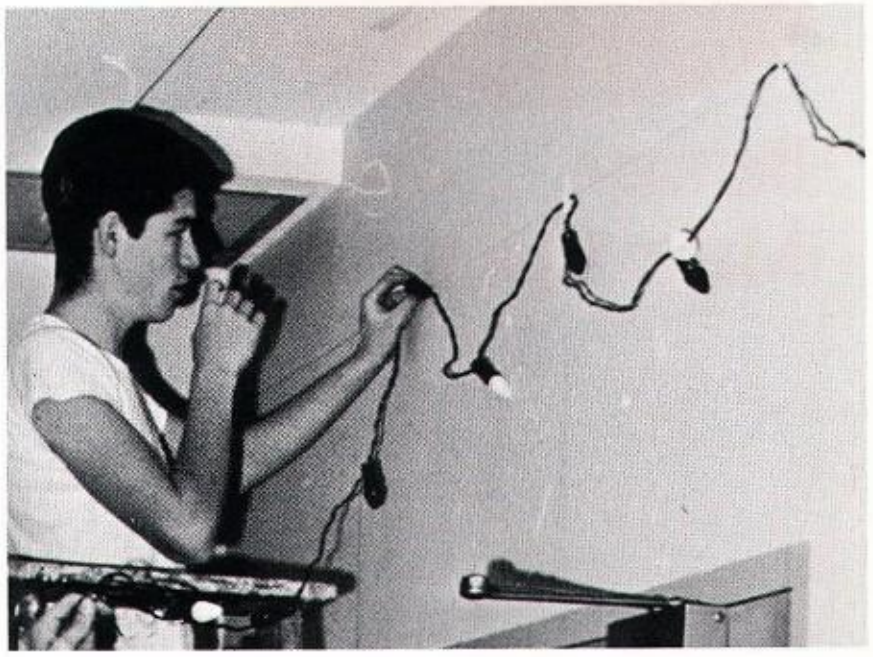
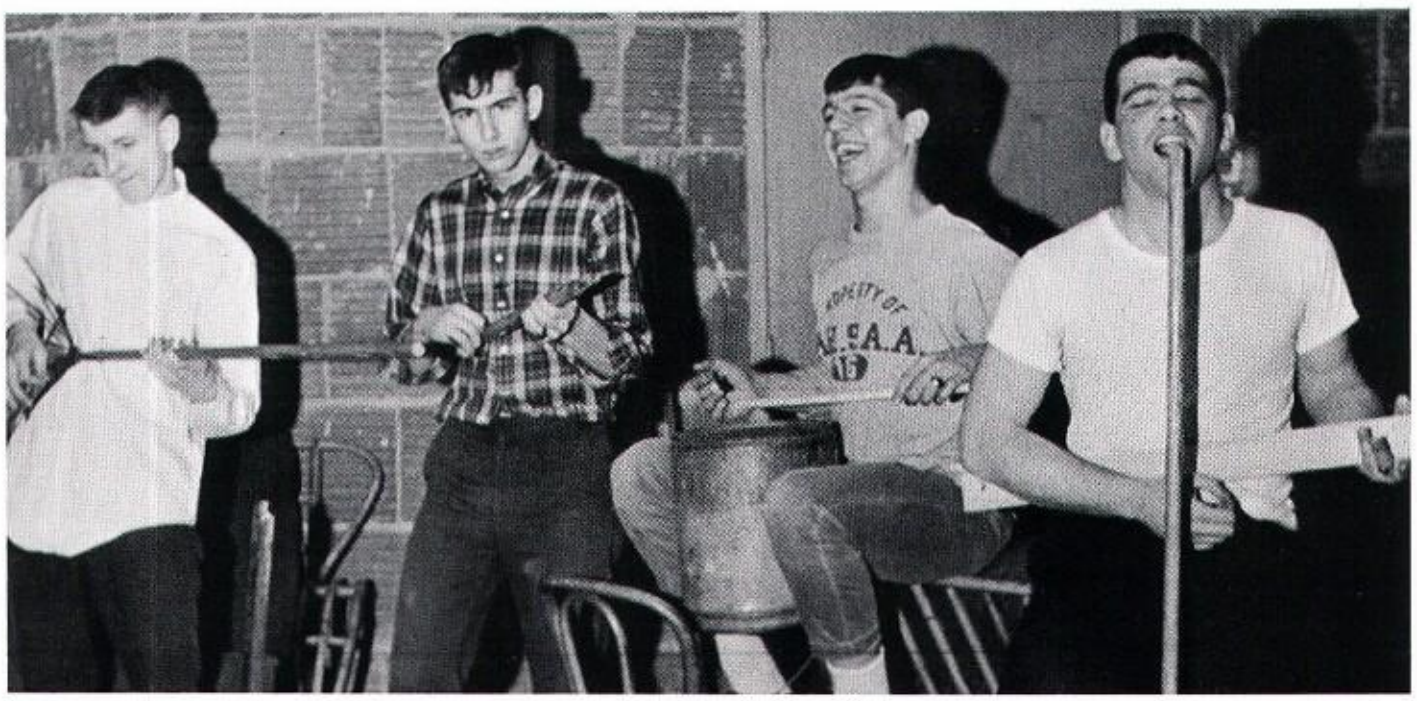
EERIE ERIE. Our frozen pond across the road, Lake Erie, is desolation itself when frozen over. George Takacs scales one of its huge ice crags.



DECK THE HALLS. When the blinking lights go on in the rec room, we know that certain season is approaching. Ed Curran starts stringing the decorations.



BEATLEMANIA. Everybody got into the act. Mike Wesolowski, Jeff Filip, Mike Salach, and Jack Corbera howl, whine and neigh in imitation of their original heroes..

KEGLER FUNORAMA. Come to the lanes. Bowling is fun. Watching the bowlers is funnier.

WGR Disc Jockeys vs Faculty

BIG WHEEL. Father Rufinus led the Faculty quintet in pre-game practice. Everything was done in a big way.

POOR REFEREE. Somebody's going to get bounced for this. It's hard to say what Father Maurice is doing, but it does look a bit suspicious.

JUST A FRIENDLY GAME. Head football coach, Jim Moore, assisted and consoled by his mates at this point, recovered miraculously to help lead them to victory.

UNDEFEATED FACULTY FIVE: Row One: Assistant Coach Bob Torgalski, Fr. Urban, Fr. Simon, Fr. Chris. Row Two: Fr. Bonaventure, Coach Jim Moore, Fr. Maurice, Friar Mark, Fr. Rufinus.

Athletic, Political Battles Attract Wide Audience

Originally intended only as a fund-raising benefit, the challenge of the disc jockeys of Station WGR in the Queen City of the Lakes was accepted by the St. Francis Faculty. In what could be justly labeled as the finest performance of any middle-aged group, the instructors beat the record changers in a dazzling display of power, shooting and sheer nerve.

On the academic side, heated disputes filled the air as our Iraq delegation to the Model UN Assembly stimulated Big Power opposition to their takeover in the Near East.

EMPHATIC SPEAKER AND ARGUMENT. Jim Zoll reacts quite strongly in defense of his delegation's proposals.

UNITED NATIONS

PREPARING THE U.N. AGENDA. Roger Palczewski and Rich Wesolowski review the program for the coming session.

WINTER

BOOK REPORT TIME. Winter is good reading time. Brother Victor advises the underclassmen on the available reading lists.

January Exams Test All Our Powers and Virtues

Behind every Christmas there lurk the semester exams—an agonizing three day struggle pitting the unsuspecting student against book and teacher. Another set crops up in June, making a total of eight in the four years.

The Third Order continued to prosper in number; Red Cross members in a subdued post-vacation time melancholically collected games and toys for the area underprivileged.

AND HE SAID HE COULDN'T DANCE. Showing the way with Santa during the concert at Christmas time, Father Felix still has some spring in them old old bones.

INDIVIDUAL ACHIEVEMENTS. Honored at the awards dinner were Larry Cieslica as Most Improved Football Player; George Dubrasky, Most Valuable Cross-Country Runner; Jim Moore, Head Football Coach; Pete Compisi, Most Valuable Football Player; Bob Torgalski, Assistant Coach; Rich Schultheis, Most Valuable Lineman.

MOST VALUABLE. Receiving the trophy for football achievement, Pete Compisi is congratulated by rival coach, Bill Whelan.

Stellar Lay Societies Give Solid Backing

Assistance by devoted laity is an essential in Catholic education. St. Francis boasts of two such excellent organizations—the Athletic Club and the Ladies Aid Society.

The Men's Club, the younger of the set, has assumed yeoman's share of the expenses incurred by the athletic department in the development of the young talent. Regular Tuesday night bowling adds an evening of recreation to an already splendid spirit of unity.

The Ladies Aid Society this past year refurnished the kitchen and washing area and installed new tables in the dining room. Ever constant in their zeal, they make certain St. Francis lacks nothing in the education of the young boy.

LADIES AID INSTALLATION. Father Cornelian of the Radio Rosary Hour was guest speaker at the installation of the club's officers.

LADIES AID SOCIETY

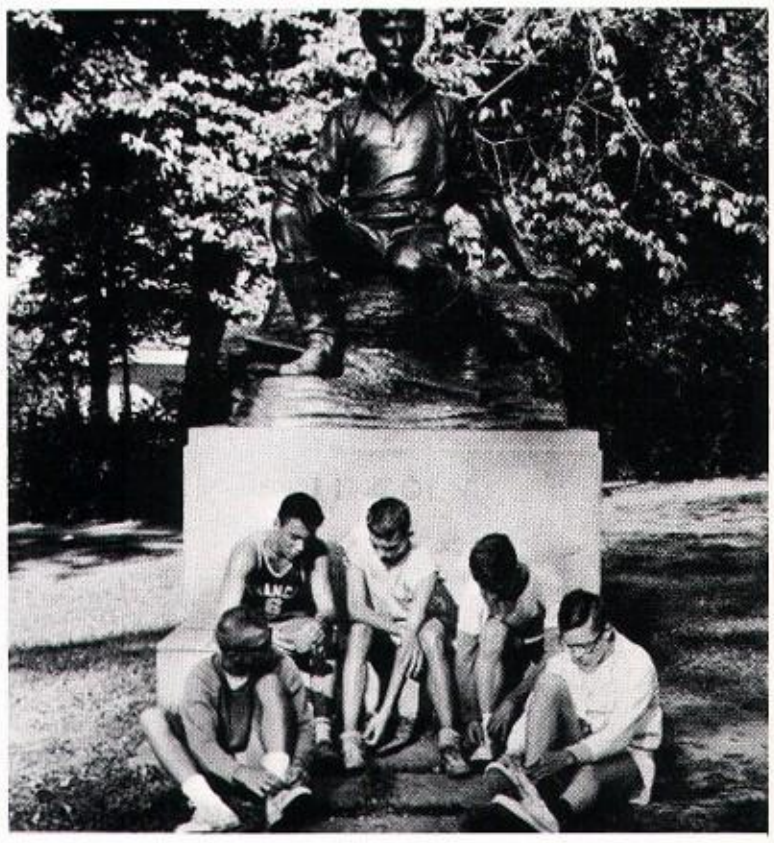
TOP KEGLERS. Representing the Beach Boys, John Wokulich, Mike Fitzgerald, Karl Pfoor and Larry Mikoleski copped first place.

TUESDAY'S MEETING NIGHT. Father Maurice, moderator, presides over the Athletic Club's business sessions.

ACTION AT ST. FRANCIS LANES. Without a doubt the most rabid bowlers in the area compete when the Athletic Club rolls.



HISTORIC OASIS. Finishing their paces in Delaware Park, Francis runners rest under the eyes of a bronzed Abe Lincoln.

SPRING

AT THE FRANNY HOP. To the happy beat of the El Tempos, Francis boys glide over the floor with their escorts.

PUBLICITY MEN. Attendance at the dance went beyond expectation because of poster men, Pat Mahoney and Matt McInerney.

THE PARTY'S OVER. Souvenir decorations were easy to get at the end. It was worth the work putting them up.

SITTING THIS ONE OUT. Chatting in the bleachers was as relaxing as dancing.

Bewitching Spring Had Us All Under Her Charms

Spring with its irresistible hypnosis just drags the worst out of a person. The afternoon buzzer seemed as if it would never sound.

Social life received a big boost with the first dance in the longest time. The debaters, still gaining experience, scheduled several debates.

May arrived and we knew the end was in sight when the Freshmen carried their mitts into class.

KOLBE DEBATERS. Greg Collins, Rich Wesolowski, Bob Howe, George Takacs, Tom Wrzosek.

MARY'S MONTH. May Day rallies mushroomed all over the diocese. St. Francis students joined the local parish to pay tribute to the Mother of God.

DEBATING CLUB

DOCUMENTING A POINT. Joint discussions by the debaters helped to formulate cogent arguments.

GRANDSTAND FAN. With nothing to worry about but foul balls, Mike Gentile plants himself up in the leafless tree to enjoy an early spring game.

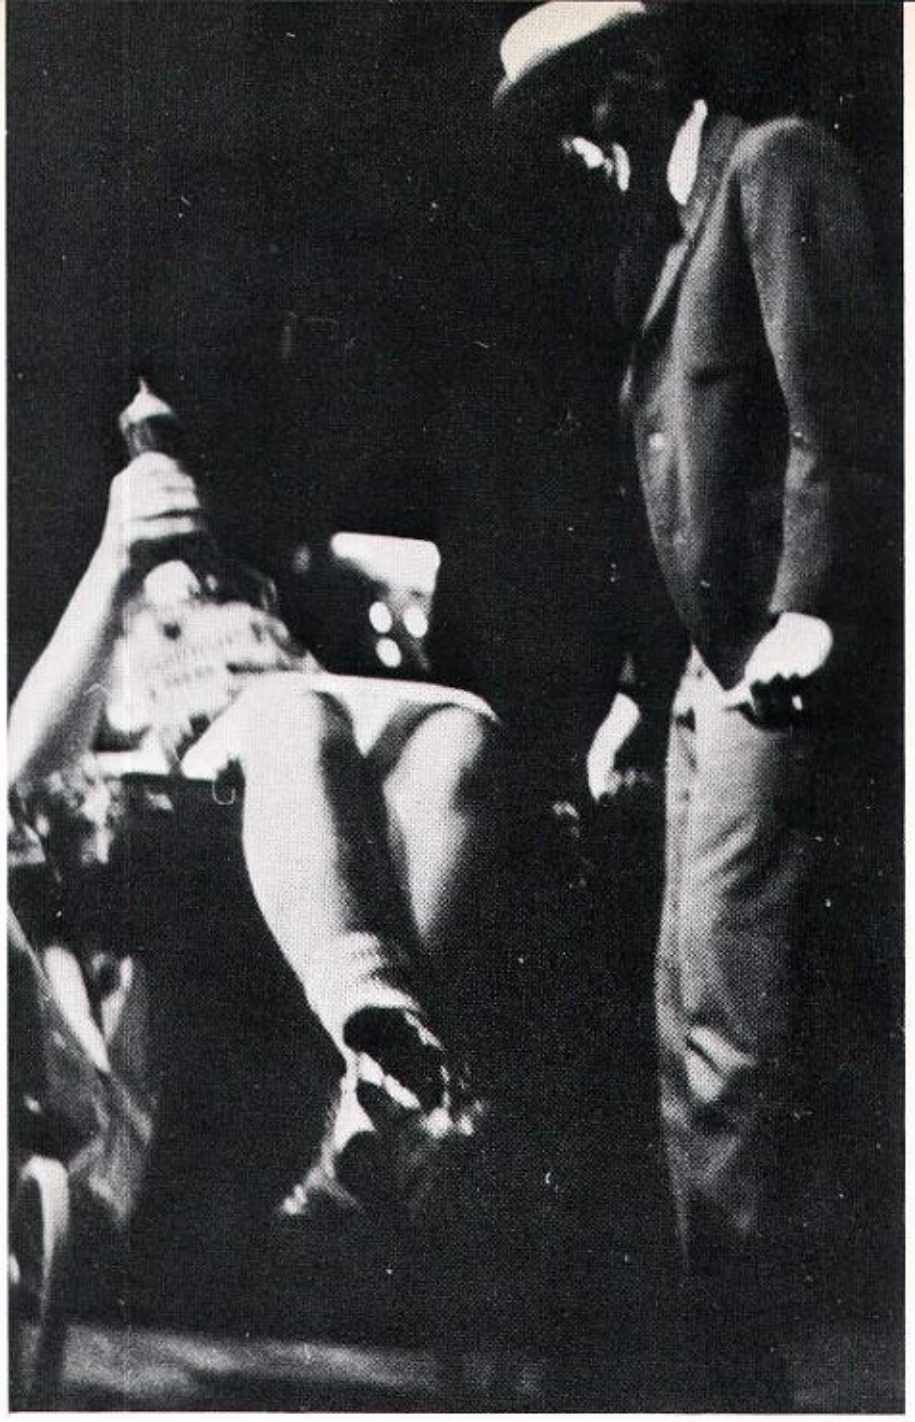
HERE COMES THE ROBERT E. LEE. All entertainers were passengers on the showboat just coming to port.

TUG O' WAR. Big Bo Bochanowicz took on the entire cast in this test of strength.

NOT FOR REAL, JUST PART OF AN ACT. George Davis, Matt McInerney, Frank Stefanik and Greg Zieman start their skit with some sinister excuses.

LIVE ENDMAN. Ten gaudy endmen like this happy soul led the laugh parade.



BABE OR BABY? Ron Wesolowski and Lucian Wolf go through a father-daughter routine. She must be corn-fed.

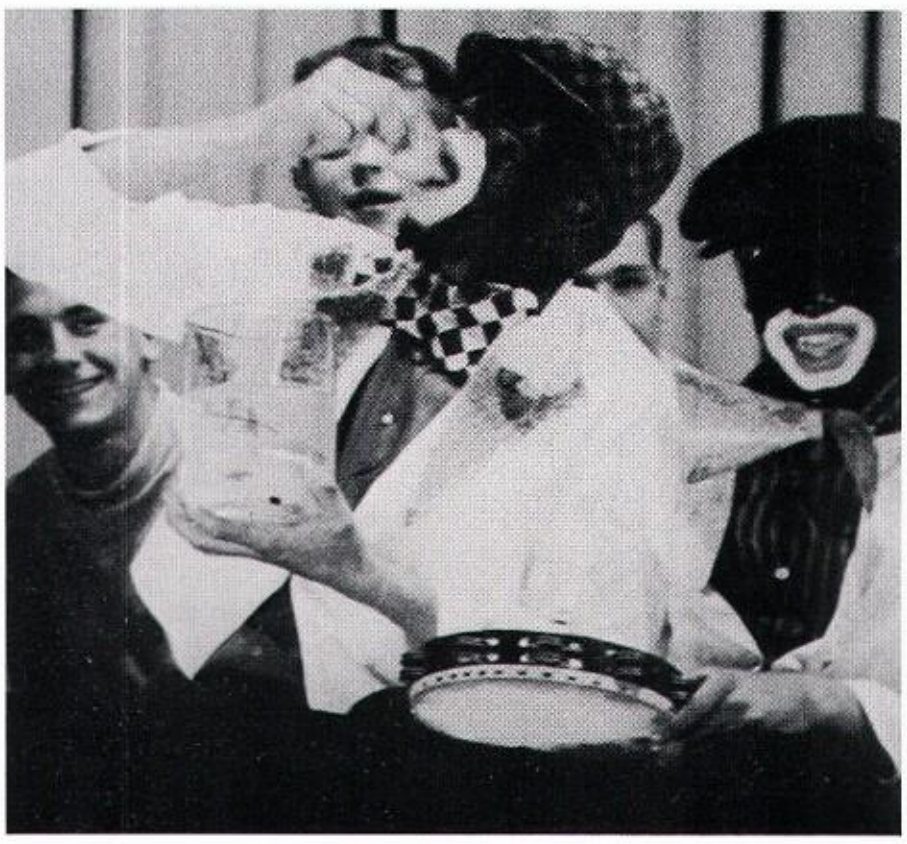
Minstrel Show "Showboat" Rated Huge Success

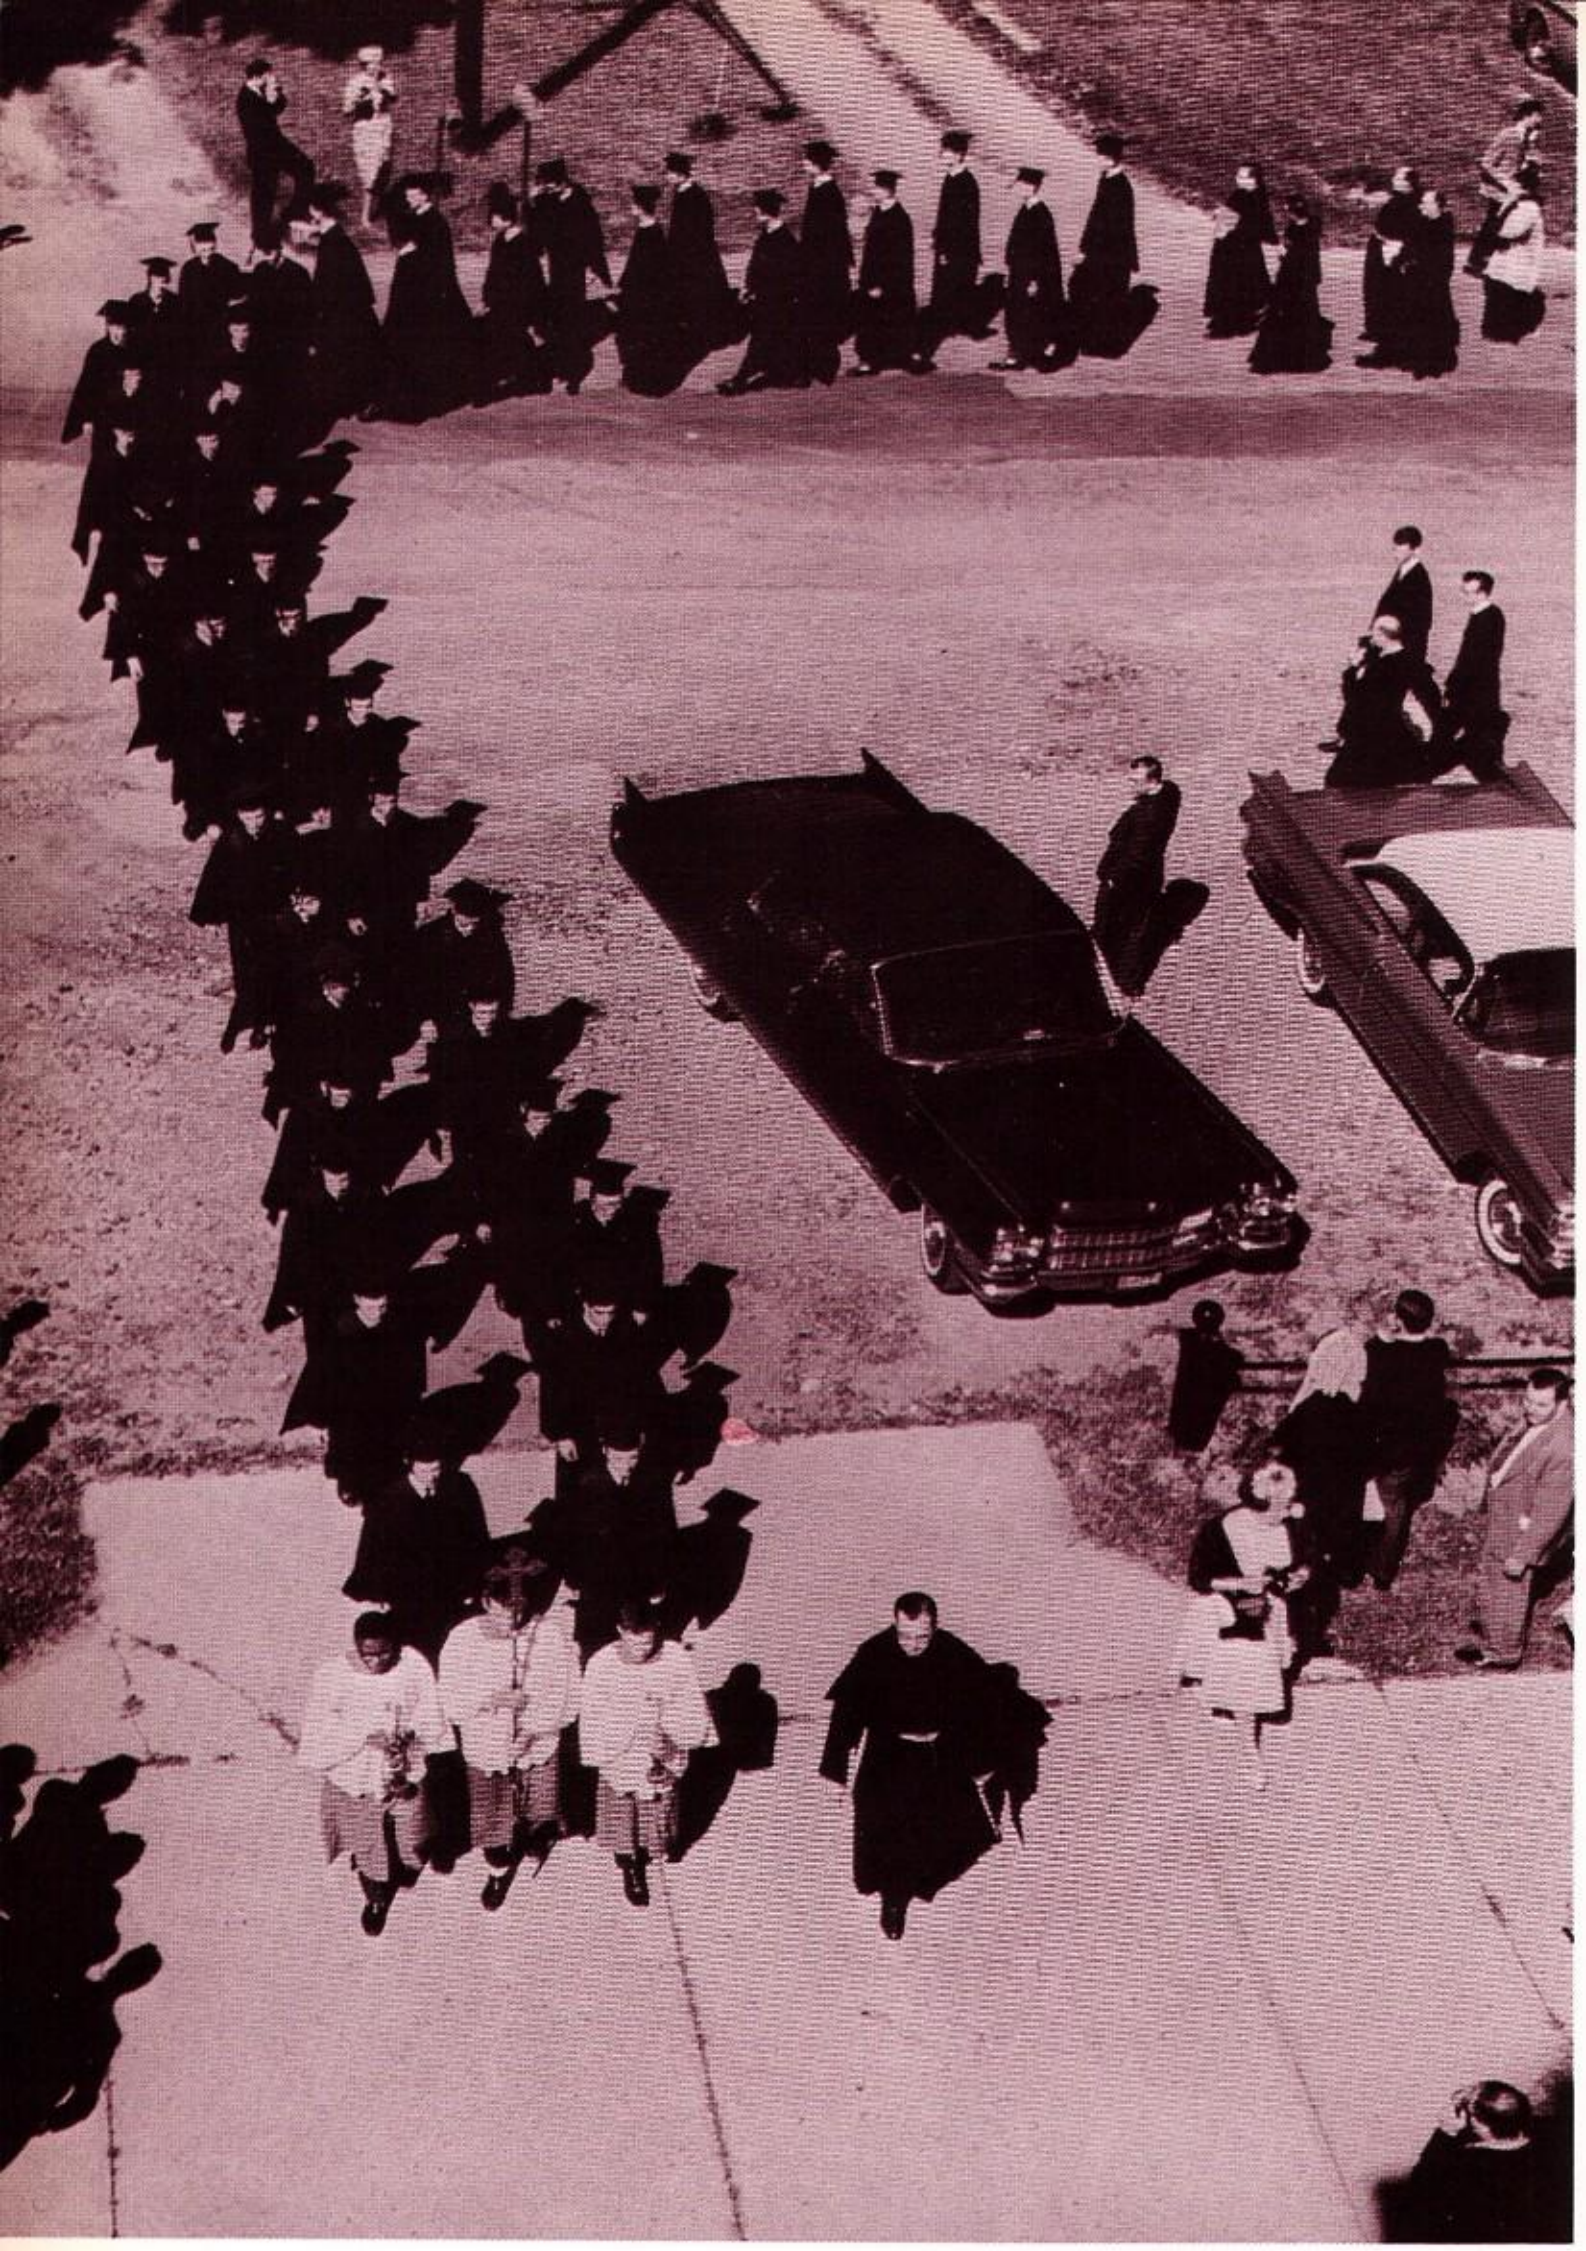
In came the "Showboat" and what a rollicking event that turned out to be when four performances, produced by Father Sylvester, hit an all-time high in attendance.

Just about everybody got into the act and what a variety of skits! Instrumental soloists, singing quartets, an operatic farce, and the perennially comical endmen had the audience in tears and stitches.



GOLDFISH COCKTAIL. A pinch of salt in the water made the wiggle a little wigglier and the taste a bit tastier. Jon Simpson stomachs his prized catches.

LITTLE SATCHMO. Serenading soloist Pete Compisi had the whole gym tapping and clapping to the Darktown Strutters Ball.



THE LONG ROAD ENDS HERE. For the last time as students, the graduates file into the auditorium to emerge as alumni. High school days are now memories.

SPRING COMMENCEMENT

Farewell Alma Mater

AS WE HAD STARTED. Four years ago high school started with a prayer. It ends today with thanksgiving for four years of blessings and grace.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER. Father Edmund, Provincial Secretary, delivered the final exhortation and blessings.

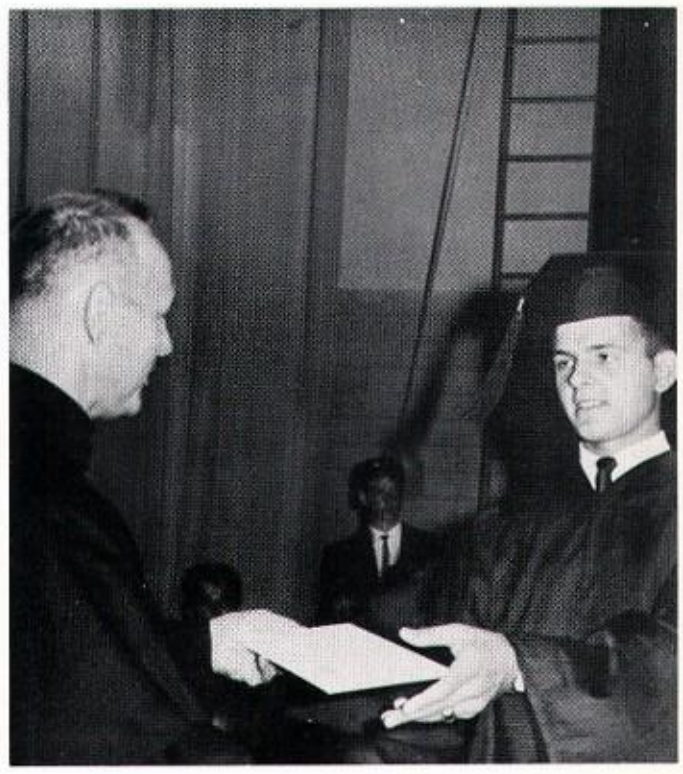
We Made the Great Stride into the World of Tomorrow

Sunny skies on graduation day, at least to the beaming Senior, seem but just reward for the four years of study. And it usually turns to be just that.

As the day turns to dusk and the events of this the greatest day in our young lives still whirl in our glad minds, there appears that strange nostalgic feeling so common to farewells.

It took time to remember the new names and faces four years back. It'll take ages to forget them now, so much have we grown a part of each other.

FOR YOUR EFFORTS. Receiving his diploma, happy James Machnik joins the long list of Francis alumni.



"THE foundation of good health is laid in early life . . . Physical fitness goes with mental fitness . . . Our children must have an opportunity for physical development as well as for intellectual growth."

Schultheis, Compisi Earn All-Catholic Honors

Brilliant defensive stands offset by intervals of offensive collapse ruined the championship hopes for the Varsity eleven who wrote a three wins, three losses and a tie entry into the 1963 record book. A mere fifteen points separated the Red Raiders from an unbeaten season as stiffer competition dethroned the league's perennial contenders in a series of tense and bitterly contested encounters.

Personal achievement ranked high as lineman Rich Schultheis and fullback Pete Compisi through their stellar play gained All-Catholic accolades. Halfback Jerry McEneaney and linemen Phil Menig and Jim Mead were Second Team selections.

Red Raider football now passes into the hands of a vibrant and vigorous group of proven Junior Raiders. Gone will be the veterans who in four glory filled seasons rescued Francis football from mediocrity and then scrambled to twenty-five victories, five losses and a single tie. Even the most fanatic could not have asked for more. Good work, men! You were champs all the way!

Bench and Experience Give Team Class and Power

It enters the mind occasionally at the outset of the season and even then furtively—the thought of an undefeated season. And that's exactly what happened. For the first time in memory the Francis Red Raiders romped over all opposition in spectacular fashion, neatly putting away an historic unblemished record.

Succeeding Father Rufinus at the helm, Father Maurice directed the cagers whose only defeat came in a post season playoff 59-56 to Duffy High of Niagara Falls.

Five Seniors supplied the depth and experience with the high scoring Henry Pietraszek and Mike Salach leading the way and in the process earning All-Catholic honors on the first team. Second team laurels went to steady Paul Michalek.

Georgetown Trophy

Ryan Jinx Shattered in Thrilling 1-0 Title Playoff

Symbolic of championship play, the Georgetown Trophy rests again, after a seven year absence, in the main trophy case at St. Francis. The pendulum of good fortune finally swung our way—even if it did ever so slightly. There was enough of a nudge in its stroke, however, to eke out a thrilling 1-0 victory over the tenacious and perennial rivals, the Rams of Ryan High.

Only a heroic mound performance by everyone's All-Catholic, Jerry Morawski, severed a string of five consecutive playoff defeats.

Timely extra-base hitting coupled with excellent pitching played havoc in the inter-divisional play, making the Red Raiders early and easy league titlists with a final record of twelve wins and one defeat.

All-Catholic honors were heaped on the team as pitcher Jerry Morawski and infielders John Buczkowski and Pete Compisi repeated as first team selections. Infielder Mike Salach and outfielder Paul Kubiak were placed on the second team.

The biblical span of seven years of famine came to its ultimate end and with its passing, we hope, the arrival of seven years of diamond abundance.

Fourth Place Finish Hardly Story of Record Breaking Season

With the Frosh and Junior Varsity showing surprising poise, the Cross-Country teams ran nearly all the school records into the dust. Ed Vazquez established a new Frosh record for the 1.3 mile course, and Mike Goergen and George Dubraskey posted new marks for the Junior Varsity and Varsity respectively over the 2.5 mile course.

The Varsity harriers finished fourth with a 4-3 record, contending for the runner-up position in the league until the final meet of the season.

In the first annual All-Franciscan Meet, the Red Raider Varsity finished second to Baker-Victory and ahead of O'Hara and Ryan.

"Wait Till Next Year," Vow Runners After Third Place Finish

Like their running cousins on the cross-country squad, the Varsity track and field speedsters finished third in the Catholic interscholastic league in an unusually cold and wet season. Father Sylvester, mentor of the team, saw the sharp winter winds of the upstate area cut his normally brief training season in half.

And yet in final summary, as everything else that is done with enthusiasm, it was a success with the perennial spills and thrills and the final spirit of accomplishment.

Traditionally strong in sprinters; the team produced two quick competitors in John Lawson and John Holowiecki. In the field events the high-jumping of Dale Reeves and the shot-putting of Phil Menig merited acclaim.

SKY'S THE LIMIT. In an almost perfect simulation of the graceful swan, Joe Sulik clears the bar in the high jump.

Variety in Sports Offers Everyone Chance to Compete

Perhaps the brightest feature in the athletic program at St. Francis is its well organized intramural program. Active interclass competition in which nearly sixty per cent of the student body participates speaks itself for the efficiency of the course.

Upperclassmen naturally qualify for the favorite's role in the individual battles for the league crowns, which in itself is a lesson to the younger frosh and sophomores that it takes time, effort and many setbacks to build a winner.

Reigning 1963-1964 champs are the Senior Flintstones who pocketed their third successive football championship and first basketball title.

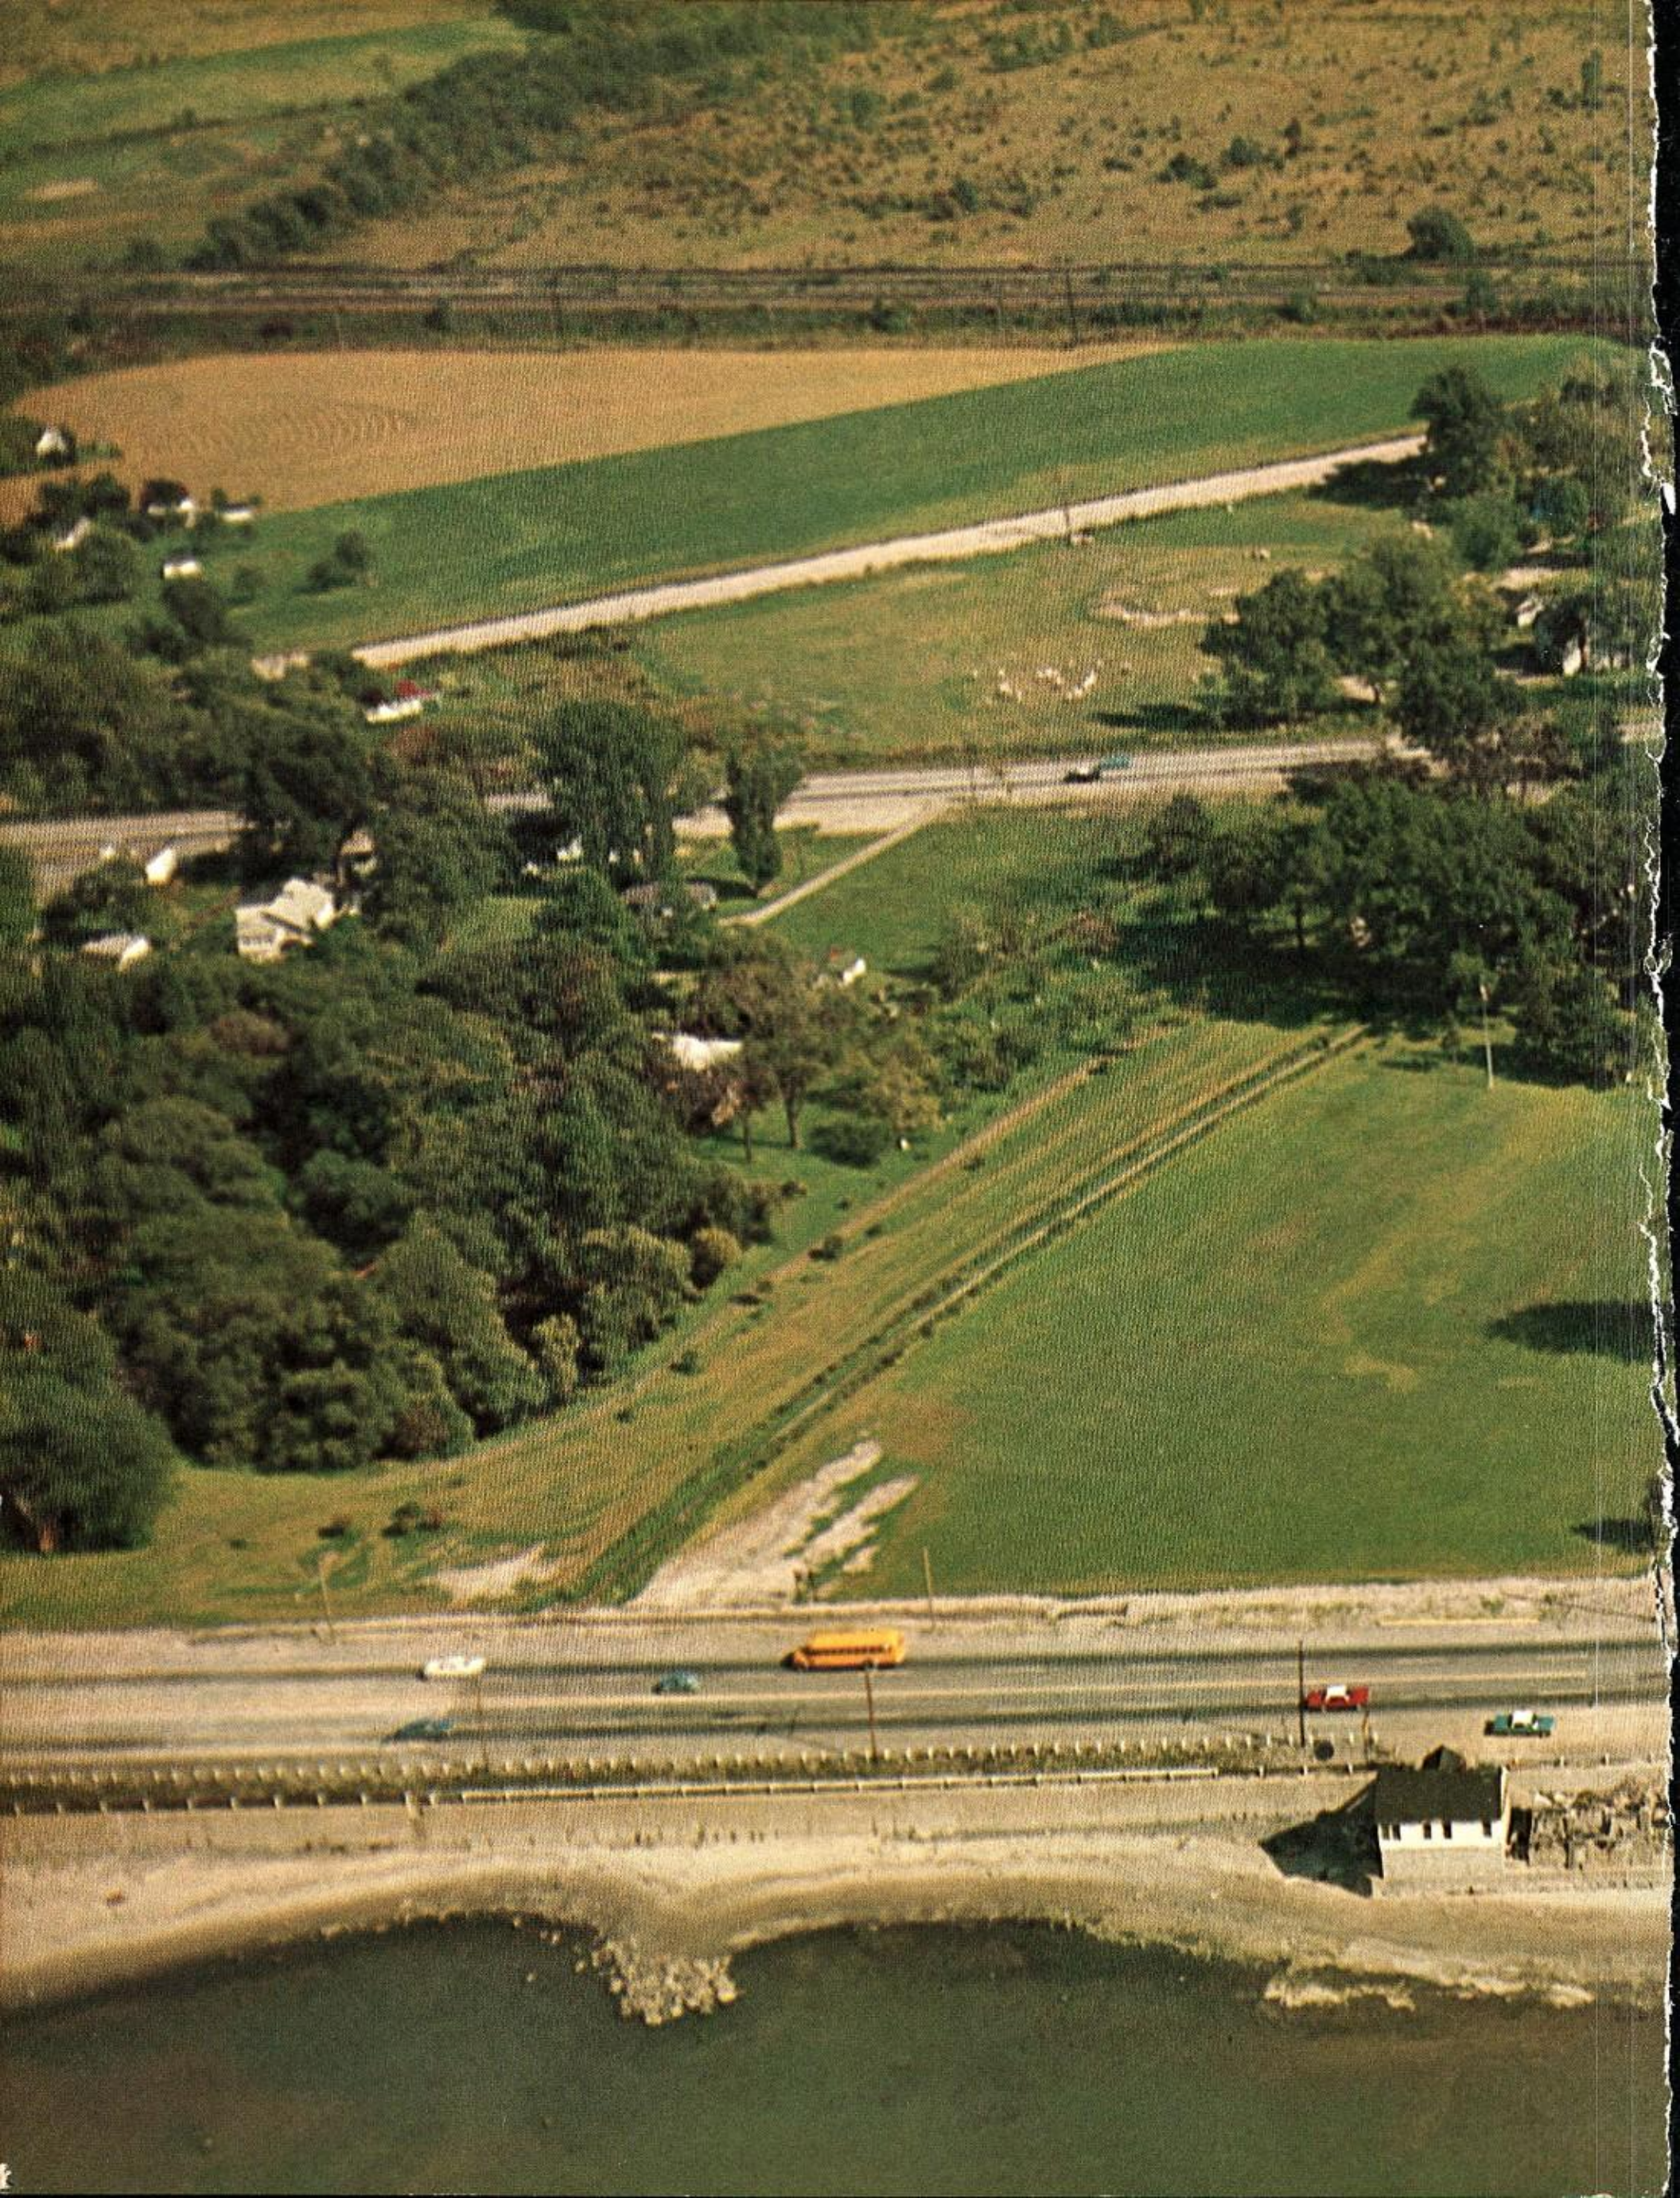
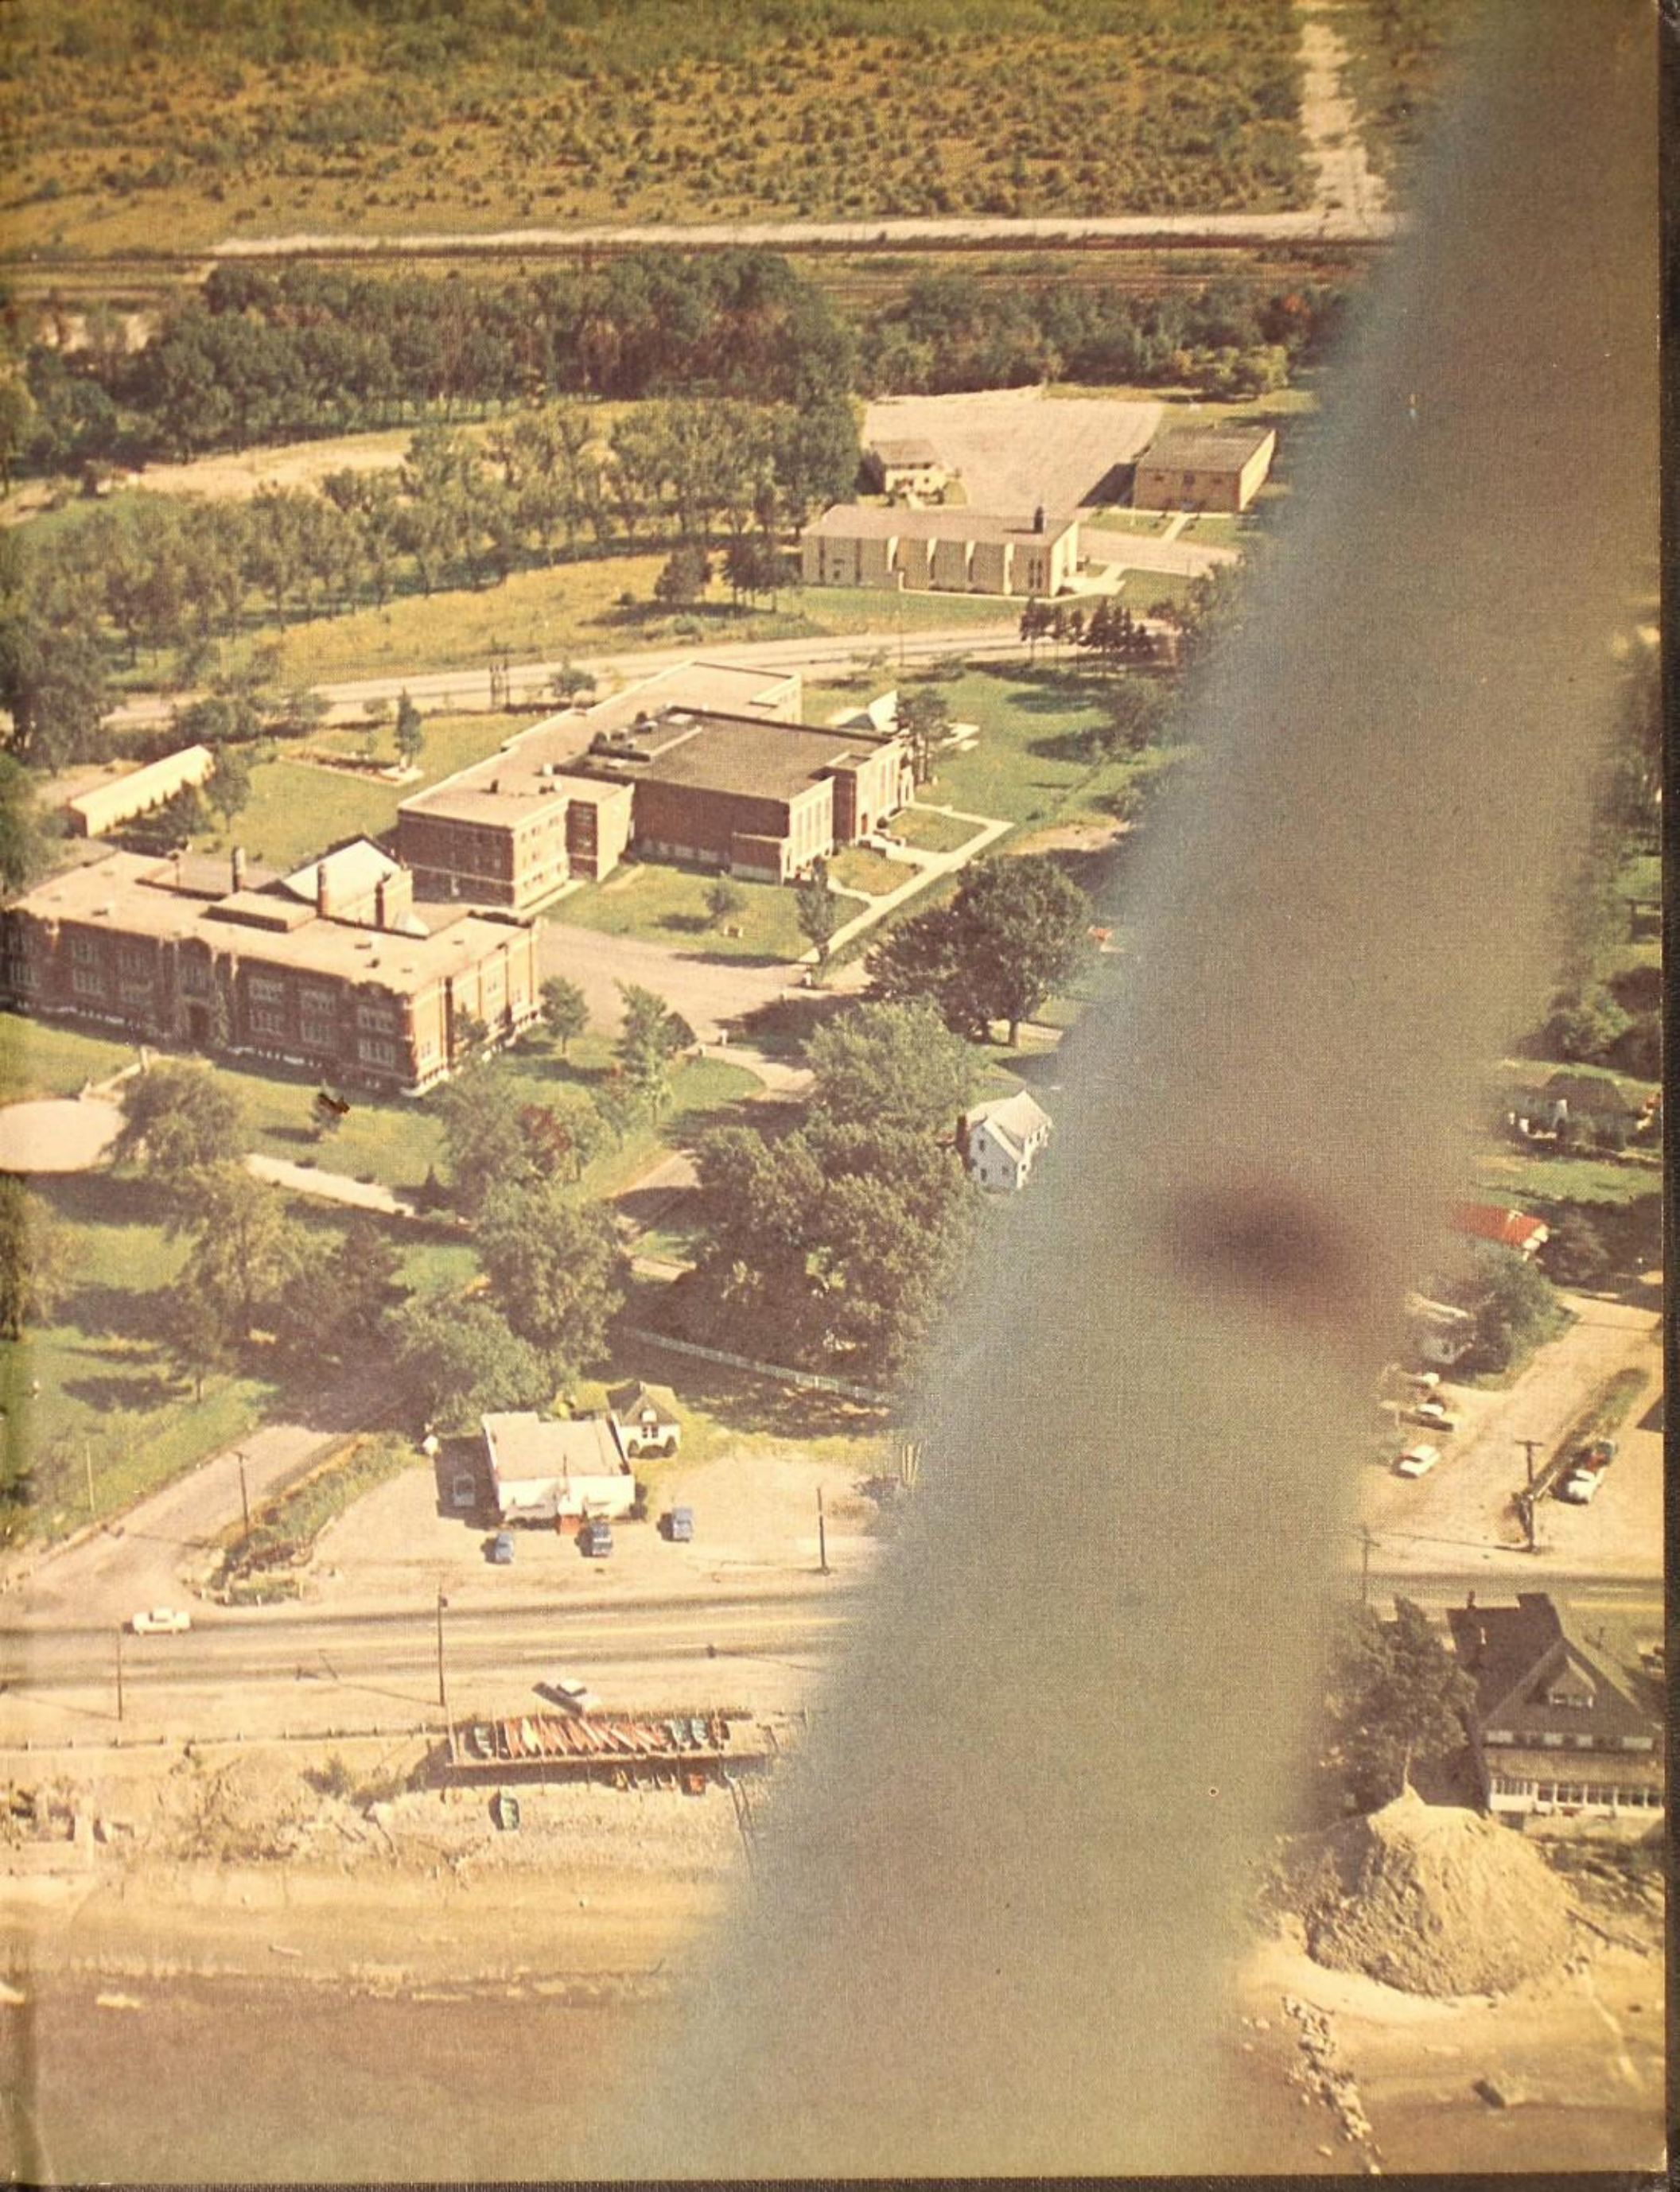
And when all will have been written and said,
When the paths to his last home
Will have turned to natural green,
The image of dedication to a task
Will remain forever.




Devotion to duty builds a man
begets power fosters zeal harbors fidelity displays courage
survives adversity
savors victory.
We are the fortunate heirs of his indelible testament.
